Ten homes proposed on derelict pub land

A DERELICT pub will be demolished under plans to build a housing estate.

Dudley planning officers have recommended that The Freebodies Tavern on St John's Road be knocked down to make way for ten two and three bedroom homes.

The Kates Hill pub has been boarded up for more than five years.

Vandals have attacked the former pub, opposite St John's Church, and there have been problems with fly-tipping.

Now Alps Developments Midlands Limited hope to receive approval to build new homes on the site in three terraced blocks.

Each of the ten homes, which face towards High Street, will have car parking spaces.

The plans are due to go before Dudley Council's development control committee on Monday and have been recommended for approval with the condition that developers retain a public right of way on the site.

Deputy Mayor Councillor Steve Waltho, said: "I am supporting these plans because the pub has been an eyesore on the area for a number of years. Since the building closed it has become a magnet for vandals."

HarryFest at mall car park

A TWO-DAY festival in honour of a young fundraiser is taking place at Merry Hill shopping centre.

HarryFest is this weekend from 10am to 4pm on the Eat Central car park at the Brierley Hill mall.

Harry from Birmingham died aged 11 from a brain tumour in 2011. He set up the charity Help Harry Help Others and raised more than £600,000 for cancer research. The festival is part of a superhero-themed holiday programme and tickets cost £2.50 on the gate.

PHARMACY PLAN IS PUT ON HOLD

PLANS to build a community pharmacy outside the main entrance to Dudley's Russells Hall Hospital have been put on hold.

But health bosses are still working to reduce waiting times for patients.

The £227,000 outpatient pharmacy had been proposed to help reduce the wait for patients to receive medicines and would also provide other services, such as counselling.

Hospital bosses said this week that they were not yet ready to go ahead with the scheme and it would be reviewed again within the next 12 months.

In the meantime, the hospital has made changes to ensure waiting times for patients are kept to a minimum.

Delivered

Specialist prescriptions such as those for cancer patients are being delivered to homes.

Paula Clark, Chief Executive of The Dudley Group NHS Foundation Trust, which runs the hospital, said they were also looking at whether an existing room at the hospital could be used for the pharmacy instead.

She added: "The trust is currently reviewing its capital plans as part of a strategic review to offer the best care to patients."

"As part of this process the new outpatient pharmacy is due to be reviewed within the next 12 months."

"However, some specialist medicines such as those for cancer patients, are already being supplied direct to patients' homes, which has reduced the amount of time they spend waiting for medicines."

"An alternative use of

By Heather Large

existing accommodation at Russells Hall Hospital is also being explored to help improve our patients' experience."

Hospital bosses previously said the pharmacy would enable staff to have more time to help patients understand their prescriptions and also to answer their questions.

It was hoped it would leave the existing pharmacy department to focus just on inpatient prescriptions.

It was expected to create one new job with others to follow.

The pharmacy was expected to be open from 9am to 7pm seven days a week.

Planning permission has already been granted for the scheme by Dudley Council.

That planning application said the location for the new pharmacy was chosen so that patients had a shorter walk to car parks and was close to the main hospital building with its facilities.

The site near the hospital entrance is currently used for cycle parking.

The application said the development follows national NHS surveys, which have shown that there is a need to supply more information and counselling for patients.

State-of-the-art fire station opens

Bluewatch at the new fire station — Kev Atkinson, Paul Morris, Dominic Rose, Jamie Law, Matt Crawford and Temple Jones

IT has served the community for 72 years but now now firefighters have bid a fond farewell to their old station as they moved into a state-of-the-art new base.

Cradley Heath's fire station closed its doors for the final time on Monday before personnel pat and present paraded to the newly-built Haden Cross Fire Station on Barrs Road. It is on the site of former municipal buildings.

Station Commander Marc Hudson said saying goodbye to the old fire station was an emotional experience. However, he added: "Haden Cross will provide modern bespoke fire station and community facilities."

Councillor John Edwards, Chairman of West Midlands Fire and Rescue Authority, served at Cradley Heath station during his 12-year stint as a firefighter. He said: "The move to the new Haden Cross station fulfils the promise we made to the communities of Cradley Heath and Halesowen. We are providing a new community fire station to provide, not just a first class emergency response, but also prevention and protection services to the people we serve."

A community 'open afternoon' will take place at the new station on September 6.

Horgan Homes has submitted a planning application to demolish the former Halesowen station in Hagley Road and build 14 homes.

Work is about to start on new store

CONSTRUCTION of a new supermarket is to begin 'imminently' following work to clear the site.

Lidl was granted permission to build the store on part of the Duckworth Trading Estate in Stallings Lane, Kingswinford, and earlier this year received further approval to expand the scheme.

Fencing has gone up around the site and signs saying a new store is coming soon.

Officials from the supermarket giant said construction is set to begin shortly.

The amended application was to incorporate a larger area, taking in further vacant units on the trading estate.

A 115-space car park will be created as part of the proposals.

The store is expected to create 15 full-time and 25 part-time jobs.

Lidl spokeswoman Nicole Benford said: "The work that has taken place so far is to clear the site."

"We expect the construction work to begin imminently."

Some traders in nearby High Street were concerned about the scheme but councillors said they believed the town was 'big enough' to accommodate another supermarket and it would provide 'healthy competition'.

Blower is a howling error

NO one likes being disturbed but for one howler monkey at Dudley Zoo a leaf blower is just too much to take. The primate, named Dargie, begins a deep howling call which can be heard up to three miles away every time he hears the machine start up.

Head gardener Carl Stevens said it may be due to the sound frequency of his new leaf blower or that the eight-year-old thinks another howler monkey is nearby when it starts up.

Anger as baths site remains empty

IT has been almost five years since the final swimmers trudged out of Coseley baths but the land where the popular building once stood remains derelict and seemingly no closer to being redeveloped.

Dudley Council closed the building in Pear Tree Lane in 2009 despite a public campaign to save it. A year later it was demolished and was expected to make way for a housing scheme. But the council has now revealed its proposal for the wider area of land has hit a stumbling block after failure to reach agreements with neighbouring landowners.

The cash-strapped council is looking to off-load the 1.5-acre site.

In a development strategy, put out by the council for consultation this summer, the former baths site is allocated for a potential mixed-use development with 20 homes, to be built between 2016 and 2021.

The pool was closed by the council after officers said it needed £1 million of urgent repairs to make the roof safe and a further £1m was needed to bring the rest of the building up to scratch.

Pat Jordan, aged 72, was among those who campaigned against the closure of the baths. She said: "It is wicked to see the site today, especially during the summer when so many people got pleasure from the baths, but now there is nothing."

"It is an absolute eyesore but I don't want housing, I want a swimming pool. Why is it Walsall and Wednesbury are getting new leisure centres but we are left with nothing?"

Council housing to get a £15m revamp

THOUSANDS of council homes across Dudley will be refurbished in a £15 million project.

Money will be spent upgrading kitchens and bathrooms, repairing roofs, rewiring and installing new central heating.

Empty homes, which need major repair work, will also be brought up to scratch so they can be rented out again. It is hoped that this will help to reduce the waiting list for properties in the borough.

Wildflower meadow to be created

A WILDFLOWER meadow will be created in Dudley with the help of volunteers.

The Wildlife Trust for Birmingham and the Black Country will be carrying out work at in Milking Bank next week.

Hay for the new meadow is being brought from nearby 'donor site' Illey Pastures in Dudley, which is an established and ancient meadow with a rich mix of wildflowers that has seen it designated a site of special scientific interest.

The hay will be cut and brought to be strewn by volunteers on the new meadow site in one day to ensure the seeds reach their destination while they are still fresh.

Simon Atkinson, area programme manager for The Wildlife Trust, said: "Milking Bank is a site where we have already done a lot of work and now is helping to ensure we have an even bigger network of wildflower meadows, that are a feast both to the eye and to the animals that will thrive on them."

Anyone who would like to get involved in the project can contact Su James by email su.j@bbcwildlife.org.uk

Figures show that at the start of the year there were around 570 'void' houses in Dudley whilst 4,191 people are on the waiting list.

Up to 3,000 properties will be refurbished during the next three years and the scheme will also create jobs for young workers with six apprentices and a graduate being taken on to join the team of contractors.

Contract

Chairman of Dudley Federation of Tenants and Residents Associations, Martin Smith, welcomed the announcement.

He said: "It's always good to see new money being invested in properties."

"We have been saying to the council for some time that money needed to be spent on the void properties, so I am impressed that this is being done. It will make a big difference."

Dudley Council has signed a contract with firms Keepmoat and Lovell to carry out the work. The programme will run at the same times as work is carried out by the council's housing repairs team.

Neil Baxter, regional director for Keepmoat, said: "We've always prided ourselves on our continued commitment to training and apprenticeships. Over the next three years we'll be recruiting six apprentices as well as a graduate, and work experience opportunities for local people."

From new generation to the old

David Burt's five-year-old daughter Charlotte pays her tribute at Lye war memorial

IT was a deadline which sparked a global conflict and led to the deaths of millions.

Britain had given Germany an ultimatum after their invasion of neutral Belgium. They had until 11pm on August 4, 1914, to make concessions or Britain would declare war. None were made.

One hundred years later, hundreds across Dudley borough and millions around the world were marking this most sombre of centuries. In Dudley on Friday night Mayor Councillor Margaret Aston attended a civic service at Top Church. She said:

"The people of Dudley have really taken the Great War anniversary to their hearts."

On Sunday at Christ Church, Lye, there was a wreath laying ceremony. David Burt, 38, of the Boys' Brigade, gave an honour salute while his daughter Charlotte, five, laid a cross. He said: "They rang the bells of Christ Church 100 times before we started."

In Birmingham 5,000 tiny ice sculptures depicting human figures were left to melt on the steps of Chamberlain Square as part of an imaginative tribute by Brazilian artist Nele Azevedo with help from 20 volunteers.

Courts are dedicated to a club stalwart

A TENNIS club has opened four new courts in memory of a club stalwart who died after a battle with cancer.

Wollaston Tennis Club, in Stourton, has spent £130,000 on the facilities which have been named the Hanby Courts, in memory of Len Hanby who died two years ago aged 77 and 47 years service to the club.

Mr Hanby and his wife, Janet, had been members of the Wollaston club for nearly half a century, since its move to Prestwood Drive.

Mr Hanby, of Hagley Road, Pedmore, was made a life member of the club in 1997 and served on Staffordshire Lawn Tennis Association Council from 1970 to 2007, acting as its treasurer for eight years and becoming a vice president.

During his time with Wollaston Tennis Club, Mr Hanby served in almost all roles including president, chairman, treasurer and secretary and, despite his illness, was still active on club business in the weeks up to his death in October 2012. He obtained many grants and loans for the club.

As well as the new courts, the club has also added improved floodlighting to ensure the tennis can be played into the evening.

Arson probe at empty pub

FIRE crews battled to bring a blaze under control at an empty pub in Stourbridge.

The alert was raised in the early hours of Sunday as motorists saw smoke billowing from the Bulls Head in Pedmore Lane.

Firefighters conducted a search of the building and discovered several fires appeared to have been lit around the two-storey brick-built property but found no one. Crews from Stourbridge, Brierley Hill and Cradley attended.

The ground floor was gutted and the cause is being investigated.

Cemetery expansion space for 20 years

WORK to expand Dudley Cemetery to create dozens of new burial plots will start later this year after councillors approved funding for the project.

The council had feared Dudley could run out of plots by the autumn if more space wasn't found. Just 140 plots remained and the situation as was described as 'critical'.

Plans for a £200,000 extension on a former football pitch off Cleve Road were drawn up.

The new site will have enough burial space to last approximately 20 years and will include fencing, gates, paths and parking bays. It will include 1,000 plots and will be able to cater for all religions. There will also be 150 cremated remains plots and 140 small plots.

Environment boss Councillor Hilary Bills said: "We are spending up to £200,000 extending the amount of burial space we have in Dudley, to resolve the well publicised shortage we have. The new facility will be able to cater for specific religious needs which is something that is very important to us with the rich diversity we have in the borough."

It was approved at last week's cabinet meeting.

Tunnel plan is delayed again

PLANS to turn the historic Drakelow Tunnels into a museum have hit delays.

Wyre Forest District Council was expected to make a decision this summer on the proposals for the network of wartime tunnels carved out of the sandstone under Kinver Edge.

Officials last week said the 'planning process was still continuing' but no date was set. It is not the first time the project has been hit by delays. A decision was expected in December but was put back after the district council requested more detailed proposals.

Rare orchid find

A SPECIES of rare orchid has been discovered at a Dudley nature reserve.

Wardens at Wren's Nest Nature Reserve found the broad-leaved helleborine orchid on site.

Family activities are held at the reserve every Friday from 10am, starting today.

Centre ready to train hundreds of paramedics

A NEW paramedic training facility has been opened to help cope with a huge influx of students.

West Midlands Ambulance Service has taken over the first floor of Dudley College's campus in Brierley Hill after running out of space at its current facility in Bagderidge. That is because the service will be taking on 265 student paramedics and 50 graduate paramedics over the coming year as part of a major recruitment drive.

Dudley Road centre may become a permanent home for the service's training when the lease runs at Bagderidge next year.

Training at the campus began this month with the service expected to ramp up its operations as more trainees are taken on. It will also be used for the continuous training of current employees and the 159 students recruited over the past year.

Best

Kim Nurse, the ambulance trust's director of workforce and organisational development, said: "With the trust having such a major programme of training and development, ensuring we have the best education facilities available for our staff is key."

"Securing the accommodation at Dudley College will assist us in improving the facilities for our staff to develop skills, which will have a direct impact on the care that we are able to provide to patients."

The college will be run as the service's training centre for 12 months on a temporary basis but could then be taken on permanently in June. But the service is currently looking at other options. As a result, the costs involved in moving to the college are currently not available, as they are commercially sensitive pending the search for a possible new base.

Mrs Nurse added: "Longer term, we are looking at what the best options are for the trust."

"This may involve bringing a number of current education locations together on one site."

The Dudley College campus was chosen for its secure location for training vehicles.

Principal Lowell Williams said: "We're delighted the West Midlands Ambulance Service are operating from Dudley College's Brierley Hill Centre, and look forward to working with them to provide office accommodation to meet their business needs."

Relief for traders as town centre roads opening again

ROADS in Dudley town centre which have been shut for more than six months are to re-open today with the completion of the first phase of a £6.7million regeneration project.

Castle Street and New Street, closed since the start of the year, will open as work on the revamp of Dudley's market place enters the next phase.

Buses will begin operating as normal along both roads and Fisher Street this week.

Closure of the roads, in the heart of the town centre, proved controversial with traders saying it has led to a significant drop in trade. The three roads were closed to traffic to allow work to begin on the first phase.

Stone has been laid on roads and pavements and new parking bays created in Castle Street.

Disabled parking, a drop off point for park and ride and a motorcycle bay have also been created. New lighting columns have been installed along with seating and litter bins.

Work was originally due for completion in May but hit delays due to problems posed by underground pipes and cables.

Some shops along the roads said their trade had been hit hard.

Sofi Hickinbottom, who runs the Sofi's Plaice chip shop in Castle Street, said: "It has hit me very badly. A lot of my business is from passing trade and obviously people have not been able to stop outside the shop."

Transport boss Councillor Khurshid Ahmed said: "There have been some delays along the way, which is inevitable with a scheme of this size. I would sincerely like to thank all shops and businesses for their continued support."

The overall project is due to be completed by early 2015.

Returning Beacon to its hay days

Chairman of the Friends of Sedgley Beacon David Stanley and Councillor Michael Evans help at the landmark site

WORK is taking place to improve Sedgley Beacon for generations to come from creating new wildflower meadows and restoring hedgerows on the Black Country landmark.

The Wildlife Trust for Birmingham and the Black Country is working on the project with volunteers from the Friends of Sedgley Beacon.

It will include expanding the area of grassland which grows on the soil-rich limestone including the old quarry. New areas of limestone will be exposed and hay from the quarry, which is rich in wildflowers, will be spread there to encourage more diverse wildlife.

Dudley Council archaeologists will be on hand to see if any evidence of the site's rich history is uncovered during the project.

Simon Atkinson, conservation projects manager at trust, said: "The chance to work on such a key site is a great opportunity for us and our partners South Staffs Water. Together with the Friends, volunteers and Dudley Council we'll be enhancing some great habitats which are of real importance for local people and wildlife."

"There are plants such as milkwort and carline thistle which only grow on these sites, as well as butterflies such as marbled white and birds such as whitethroat that thrive in such habitat. For the Black Country to retain such diversity in plants and animals, it is vital that sites like Sedgley Beacon are looked after."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Campaigners aim to open charity shop

CAMPAIGNERS aiming to raise thousands of pounds to restore a landmark Dudley church are looking to open a charity shop.

St John's Church Preservation Group have permission to takeover the listed building in Kates Hill and re-open it for Christian worship, tourism and community use. Chairman Deb Brownlee said: "We would be very interested to hear from any commercial property owners who would allow us the rent free use of empty premises." Mayor recruits helpful cadets

THE Mayor of Dudley has brought new recruits into her army of volunteers.

Young people from the Dudley detachment of the Staffordshire & West Midlands (North Sector) Army Cadet Force are ambassadors for Mayor Councillor Margaret Aston.

The cadets will accompany the mayor at civic events and be part of her fundraising initiatives. Councillor Mrs Aston said: "Young people have such a positive role to play in the borough."

Hotels chain hit by higher costs

THE Millennium and Copthorne Hotels group, which includes hotels in Brierley Hill and Birmingham, saw pre-tax profit and revenue fall in the first six months of this year.

Revenue per room was down 2.4 per cent to £65.67 and profit before tax slipped to £58.4m. The group said the decline was due to higher costs, stronger sterling and challenging Asian markets.

Blitz on beauty spot biker menace

POLICE have put up signs around a beauty spot in Brierley Hill warning people not to ride off-road motorbikes over it.

Officers say tackling the problem on the Fens Pool Nature Reserve remains a priority and, if necessary, they will call upon helicopter support to help catch illegal riders who have prompted complaints.

Patrols stepped up

BOOZE has been blamed for anti-social behaviour in Gornal with police promising to clamp down on those responsible. Patrols are being stepped up from Lake Street to Pennine Drive after complaints.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

OUR changing language. Closing a number of Muslim bank accounts, HSBC says it's because they "fall outside our risk appetite." We journalists, being wordsmiths trained in economy and accuracy of language, would never use such jargon, Wanna bet? Reporting on the departure of a newspaper boss, the media website Hold the Front Page announces: "He has worked to transform the company from a primarily print and product-focussed group to a customer and community-focussed media solutions business." Ye gods and little fishes.

THE DVLA says there will be consultation on plans to reduce the cost of renewing a driving licence. So here's my response: don't be so damn silly. We renew our licences only once every 10 years. The plan is to reduce the fee from £50 to £34. That's a saving of £1.60 a year or about 0.4p a day. It is a piffling sum which most motorists will not even notice. Yet it will cost the Government about £18 million a year, which could surely be spent on something useful. Like filling in a few potholes?

THIS titbit, from a reader in a waspish mood, is supposedly an English teacher consoling a pupil who has just failed English GCSE: "There, they're, their."

AS the First World War commemorations reach their climax, a reader raises a fascinating question. Who is the youngest child of a veteran of the 1916 Battle of the Somme? He believes his sister, aged 70, is a contender. However, many Somme veterans were still around in the 1980s and some may have married more than once. It is possible that someone alive today in their 60s or even their 50s had a father who went over the top on July 1, 1916.

WHEN geeky, gawky Ed Miliband acknowledged his weird looks and admitted he'd never win a photo-opportunity, he was trying to stress his deeper, invisible qualities. I was reminded of Iain Duncan Smith's darkest hour in 2003. The then Tory leader growled: "Do not underestimate the determination of a quiet man." But it was a quiet, desperate sort of growl and it didn't work the miracle. One pundit labelled IDS "the quiet man who has much to be quiet about." It will probably be the same with Miliband. To be fair, there are a number of reasons why someone may appear weird. They may have inherited a shifty look. They may possess an awkward sort of face. They may have a deep-rooted problem with bacon sandwiches. But one of the commonest reasons for a bloke looking weird is that he is weird. Even so, prepare for the weird man entering Number Ten. The constituency boundaries are now so unfair that any Labour leader in the past 100 years could beat the Tories with the obvious exception of Neil Kinnock.

BLACK cats are said to be suddenly unpopular, partly because they do not photograph well in selfies. According to the RSPCA, today's most popular cat colour is ginger. What a strange society it is that cherishes ginger cats but makes fun of ginger humans.

WHERE are the police when you really need them? If you happen to live in Dorset, the answer could be that they're busy nicking folk like Wayne Duke. The 34-year-old drives a classic 1969 Dodge Charger and, according to reports, was taking a bride and groom to their reception when he sounded his Dixie-tune air horn. A police car promptly pulled him over. Mr Duke says he didn't know the horn was illegal and you might think, as it was a wedding day, the police would have let him off with a gentle warning. Instead they handed him a summons to appear in court. Is Mr Duke perhaps a serial horn-blower? One emailer asks: "What about the ice-cream vans?"

Donations boost for heritage centre

AROUND £30,000 has been collected in public donations, leaving heritage campaigners just £10,000 away from their final drive towards a £3m education and heritage centre for Dudley Canal Trust, called The Portal.

It will be used to tell thousands of visitors about the Black Country's industrial past and canal heritage. The two-storey base will be built by the Dudley Canal Tunnel entrance at Todds End with the help of lottery cash and grants. So far £30,000 in donations has been received to help fund the project, £10,000 shy of the £40,000 target.

June Hodkins said: "It's excellent. We're not far from our goal which is great. The donations have come from visitors who have been out on trips and have enjoyed themselves so they have wanted to support the project."

Earlier this summer, the trust received £100,000 grant from The Garfield Weston Foundation. The Heritage Lottery Fund has given the project £989,200 and a £1m cash windfall has come from the European Regional Development Fund. The total cost of the project is expected to be £3 million and it is hoped that the building could be open by Easter 2015.

A swing bridge would be constructed so visitors from the nearby Black Country Living Museum can access the ticket office, boats and heritage centre. Bosses also plan to install a lift link to the towpath and wharf. The top floor of the centre would provide access from the car park on Birmingham New Road.

Halfway to homes on former campus

WORK on a development of 80 homes on a former college site has reached the halfway stage.

Bellway is building the estate on land previously occupied by workshops, classrooms and halls of residence for Dudley College.

The college buildings at the former Castle View campus were demolished two years ago to make way for the homes. Staff and students moved to the Broadway campus. The developer will invest £250,000 into community facilities, including sports and road improvements.

Bellway's sales and marketing director Stephen Rose said: "It's fantastic to see St James Mews really taking shape. The development has transformed the approach to Dudley town centre along Salop Street and provided an attractive frontage to The Parade."

Dudley College sold the land to the developer to help fund its new learning quarter in the town centre, which includes a sixth form centre in Priory Road and vocational centre in Tower Street. Work has started on Dudley Advance, an engineering and manufacturing centre, and Dudley Enhance maths centre, both in Priory Road.

Warning on roadworks

MOTORISTS could face delays as resurfacing work takes place on a main route through Wordsley.

A traffic island will also be created as part of the scheme at on the A491 Camp Hill, near the Red House Glass Cone.

Resurfacing work was due to start between Marine Crescent and Brierley Hill Road on Tuesday and is expected to last around a week.

The new 'splitter island' is to be constructed in Camp Hill near the junction with Marine Crescent once the resurfacing is complete.

Vehicles at risk

MORE than a dozen cars were found to be vulnerable to thieves during a check on vehicles in Stourbridge.

Officers found 18 cars were insecure. Police say they will continue advising residents to ensure they lock their cars and keep valuable items out of view.

A THOUSAND screaming fans queued for hours to meet Britain's Got Talent stars Bars and Melody.

The young duo, who are 13-year-old Leondre 'Bars' Devries and Charlie 'Melody' Lenehan, aged 15, were at Merry Hill's HMV store last Wednesday to sign CDs and meet their young devotees.

The pair shot to stardom two months ago in the television talent show and are looking to get to number one in the charts with their first single, Hopeful. But they are already number one with the hundreds of girls who came out to meet them at the Brierley Hill mall with the queue snaking around most of the first floor of the shopping centre.

Amazing

Bars and Melody are overwhelmed by everything that has happened to them since their appearance on the TV show. Before the signing, Leondre said: "It's been absolutely amazing. I was striving towards something like this but never thought of anything of this level. I thought I might get 100 to 200 people liking my music, so I never expected even one per cent of this. You can't understand how shocking it is to think we are doing an HMV signing with thousands of girls."

The two met on Facebook and started writing music together, before trying out Britain's Got Talent, which was their first time performing in front of so many people.

Charlie said: "Britain's Got Talent was the first time we did anything together but it seems to have paid off. We just write and write, it's all we do, so it's exciting times."

Melodie Williams, from Rowley Regis, was first in the queue with her daughter Sadie, 12, son Mason, four, and their friends Rhiannon Hutton, 20, and 13-year-old Courtney Johnson.

Sadie said: "I like how they've achieved so much from just one song." Courtney added: "I got a hug from Charlie, it was amazing."

Homes to be built on site of warehouse

PLANS for 27 homes on the site of a former warehouse have been given a green light by planners.

Hadlington Brothers Ltd applied for permission to create the development on land off Marine Crescent, Wordsley and members of Dudley Council's development control committee have now approved the scheme.

Demolished

A warehouse previously stood on the site, first selling wines then tiles. Following its closure in 2007, the building was demolished and the site has been vacant.

The scheme is for two three-bedroom semi-detached, four two-bedroom semis, seven three-bedroom detached and 14 four-bedroom detached houses to be built.

Access from the site will be from Marine Crescent and the houses will have car parking provision.

Two letters of objection were received to the scheme.

Committee chairman Councillor Qadar Zada said: "Members decided to approve this scheme. There is a need to new homes in the area and this scheme was supported."

Aerosol jobs caused blaze

YOBS with aerosol cans have been blamed for starting a large field blaze.

Fire crews arrived at the farmland in Wall Heath to find two cans containing propane in the ashes.

Firefighters fought the blaze on foot using rucksack water carriers because of the remote location off the A449 Wolverhampton Road, during the late afternoon incident on July 27.

Watch Commander Mick Clark, of Brierley Hill Fire Station, said it was a dangerous incident, particularly as the cans could have exploded creating a fireball.

More park patrols

FIRES are being lit and young people smoking drugs at a park near Stourbridge, says residents.

Police have also noticed an increase in criminal damage and graffiti at Swan Pool Park in Norton. Officers have stepped up patrols in the area.

Armed drugs villain given ten years prison

Drug dealer Stefan Ratray

POLICE found a loaded gun, more ammunition and a silencer with almost £12,500 worth of drugs when they swooped on a house in the Black Country.

The property was used by 24-year-old Stefan Ratray and others as a base from which to sell cocaine and heroin, Wolverhampton Crown Court was told.

Cannabis was also being grown in an upstairs bedroom at the address in Corser Street, Dudley, said Miss Kate Plummer, prosecuting.

Ratray assaulted a woman police officer as she and fellow officers raided the address at 9.30am on November 28.

They discovered a Russian-made Baikal pistol with a magazine of ammunition loaded into it hidden under a bed. The silencer and more ammunition were found in a bag under the stairs along with heroin and cocaine packaged up into £10 deals. Nineteen cannabis plants were being cultivated under a hydroponic network of lights, watering systems and extractor fans. Sealable bags used to store drugs and seven mobile phones with text messages indicating street dealing were also found at the house.

Miss Plummer concluded: "The total value of the drugs found at the property has been estimated at £12,450."

Mr Dean Kershaw, defending, said that Ratray, who had nine previous convictions including drug dealing, was resigned to a long prison sentence and hoped to put his time behind bars to good use by completing academic courses.

Ratray from Attingham Drive, Eve Hill, was convicted by a jury of possession of a prohibited firearm and ammunition but admitted the other offences of possessing cocaine and heroin with intent to supply, cultivating cannabis and assaulting a police officer. He was jailed for a total of ten years.

Judge Martin Walsh told him: "The gun, silencer and ammunition are the tools of the trade for a drug dealing operation and the gravity of gun crime cannot be exaggerated. This is a crime of the utmost gravity."

PC talks of ordeal when arresting dangerous dealer

By Heather Large

A POLICE officer who was repeatedly kicked by a drug dealer before he reached for a loaded gun as she tried to arrest him has spoken of her ordeal.

PC Jessica Preston was assaulted as she tried to arrest Stefan Ratray during a search of his house in Corser Street, Dudley.

She saw Ratray running up the stairs but, as she chased after him, he kicked her to the head and body several times.

Firearm

PC Preston continued to pursue him into a bedroom and she was trying to arrest him when he put his hand down the side of the bed to where a loaded firearm was hidden.

At this point, PC Preston's colleagues came in and managed to detain Ratray.

PC Preston said: "We were executing a warrant so we had had a briefing that morning to attend the address but we didn't know who was there. You sort of expect that if there are people there they may not want to be detained."

But she was shocked by the violence that confronted her as she tried to arrest Ratray.

"Going in there I certainly wasn't expecting what happened," said PC Preston. "At the top of the stairs I was kicked to the head. It was about six or seven times, head, chest, neck."

"There was a bit of a scuffle at the top of the stairs, other officers were coming up the stairs behind me and he's run into the bedroom. I've run after him and we've ran over the bed and he's bent down. And that point we've dived off the bed and slammed him against the window. Other officers have come in to detain him."

She added: "The main pain was in my hand where I had put it up to stop him kicking. Some of the bones were knocked out of alignment in my shoulder."

"I've been an officer for six years now and while you assume that at some stage in your career you will be assaulted, you hope it isn't in vain. "I am just pleased that we were able to detain Ratray in the end and that the outcome, which could have been a lot worse for everyone in the property at the time, was a safe one."

PC Jessica Preston was viciously attacked by a drug dealer Stefan Ratray

During the search of the property, on November 28, a significant amount of Class A drugs, cannabis, weighing scales and drugs bags were found – along with a silencer for the gun and 9mm bullets.

Ratray, aged 24, of Attingham Drive, Dudley, was sentenced to eight years in prison at Wolverhampton Crown Court for possessing the gun and two years to run consecutively for possessing with intent to supply heroin. He was also given a number of concurrent sentences — four years for possessing ammunition, two years for possessing with intent to supply cocaine, two years for producing cannabis, 18 months for possessing with intent to supply cannabis and six months for assaulting PC Preston.

Danger

Sergeant Rob Simpson, from the St James's Neighbourhood Policing Team, said: "What had started out as an average drugs warrant turned into a potentially life-threatening situation.

"I would like to commend the bravery and tenacity of PC Preston, who pursued Ratray even though she'd been assaulted, and her colleagues who stopped Ratray in his tracks."

"None of them could have known the extent of the danger they were in."

"Events like these show the risks officers face on a daily basis."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Awards to honour unsung heroes

NOMINATIONS are needed for awards honouring unsung heroes in Dudley borough.

Dudley Council for Voluntary Service (DCVS) is looking to celebrate the work of volunteers.

Eileen Fielding, of DCVS, said they had already received some nominations but were keen to collect more by the August 22 deadline. The awards ceremony will take place on October 16.

Nomination forms are at libraries, Dudley Council Plus or downloaded from www.dudleycvs.org.uk

Extra classroom and bigger dining hall bid

PROPOSALS to create an extra classroom and a larger dining hall at a primary school have been lodged.

An extension will be built on land at the back of Sledmere Primary School in School Drive, Dudley, if the scheme is approved.

Plans for the development, which the school says will help it cope with an increase in pupils in September, have been submitted to Dudley Council.

A decision will be made within the next three months.

Half-price fun at the living museum

THE Black Country Living Museum is holding a half-price family night on August 16. Attractions will include games, singalongs, Punch and Judy shows, and pony rides.

One of the highlights will be a Black Country panto by popular local comedy troupe Fizzog Productions.

The event will run from 6.30pm until 10pm and has to be booked in advance on 0121 520 8054.

Lorry fire closes busy main road

A LORRY caught fire in Dudley after its turbobcharger blew.

Firefighters from Tipton were called to the junction of Tividale Road and New Birmingham Road at around 2.45pm last Wednesday to deal with the fire in the vehicle's engine.

New Birmingham Road was closed to while the lorry was made safe.

Action over litter

POLICE are to step up a crackdown on littering in an area of Dudley following complaints from residents.

Neighbourhood teams say they have been alerted to the problem in the Castle and Priory wards.

with Mark Andrews

WOULD you believe it? Well, no, actually.

RESEARCHERS at Oxford University have found that youngsters who play computer games for at least an hour a day turn out to be happier, more sociable, and less hyperactive than those who don't.

In other words, sitting in a darkened room, wearing a gothic T-shirt and shouting 'Die' at the computer screen is a sort of 21st century way to make friends and influence people.

Of course it is. Now those 'researchers', were they students by any chance?

AFTER being diagnosed with breast cancer at the age of 48, hospice worker Geraldine Jones made a bucket list of things she wanted to do before she died. Among them was riding a horse across a deserted beach.

After three years, Mrs Jones was given the all-clear, and to celebrate she decided to do the ride on Llangennith beach on the Gower peninsula.

She died from head injuries sustained while falling from the horse.

It is impossible to think what her family must be going through at the moment, but at least she did die doing something she loved.

But this just shows that life can be very cruel sometimes.

SOME years ago, the Government reduced vehicle excise duty for small, diesel engined cars to £30.

This was presumably in the belief that they were environmentally friendly.

Now, in order to discourage people from driving diesel-engined cars, Mayor of London Boris Johnson is threatening to double the congestion charge in the city for those using such vehicles.

Inevitably, local councils up and down the country say they are now considering measures to penalise diesel drivers in the name of cracking down on pollution.

And you wonder why there is so much scepticism about all this environmental malarkey?

Martin Wheatley, Financial Conduct Authority chief

Under fire — pay day lender Wonga's high interest rates

MP Ian Austin campaigns against greedy lenders

Helping to escape the cycle of debt

A credit union in Dudley is offering help to escape spiralling debts, DANIEL WAINWRIGHT reports

PAYDAY lenders such as Wonga, QuickQuid and others have advertised themselves as the quick and simple way to make ends meet until the salary drops into the account.

But the reality, for thousands of people, is very different.

Proposals unveiled this month are meant to put an end to the 5,853 per cent interest rates.

The Financial Conduct Authority's proposals for a cap on payday lending mean that interest and fees on new loans, including those rolled over, must not exceed 0.8 per cent per day of the amount borrowed.

The watchdog said that those who borrow £100 for 30 days and pay back on time will not pay more than £24 in fees and charges and someone taking the same loan for 14 days will pay no more than £11.20.

Under the proposals, fees for borrowers who cannot repay their loans on time must not exceed £15 and they must never have to pay back more in fees and interest than the amount borrowed.

It means that someone struggling with repayments on a £100 loan will never pay back more than £200 in any circumstance. The FCA estimates that consumers will save on average £193 per year through the measures, translating into £250 million annual savings overall. The price cap is set to cost the industry about £420m in lost revenues.

The loan companies, Wonga and QuickQuid, can provide cash very quickly but the repayment rates are exceptionally high.

The Castle and Crystal Credit Union

An alternative — the Castle & Crystal Credit Union based in Dudley in Dudley's New Street has also been helping people to get their finances back under control.

Ian Austin, MP for Dudley North, has campaigned to drive payday lenders from the high street altogether.

He says: "Anything that limits the rip-off rates these people charge and the appallingly high interest and fees consumers end up paying has to be a good thing. Their customers can end up in a vicious circle they can never get out of — strapped for cash in the first place then struggling to pay back the loan because the costs just mount up. Hard-pressed families should be encouraged to use responsible lenders like Castle and Crystal instead."

Many people with debts are embarrassed to speak out. One woman who did so asked not to be identified. 'Mrs Smith' borrowed less than £400 but within months was facing a bill of more than £1,200 that threatened to keep spiralling.

She and her partner had spent more than five years grappling with their finances before resorting to payday lenders at the end of 2012. They took out loans with two companies for less than £200 each in December of that year but by May 2013 they owed £1,256.70 to the lenders — £887.89 to Wonga and £368.81 to QuickQuid.

Wonga charged the equivalent to annual interest of 5,853 per cent while QuickQuid wanted the equivalent to 1,734 per cent a year.

The couple worked hard to economise and had a household income of £39,000 a year but it was not enough. With four children between them and spiralling debts, payday lenders offered a quick solution when they were hit by an unexpected expense, such as a car repair or broken oven.

Castle and Crystal was able to pay off the loan and put them on a cheaper rate. But credit unions can only help if more people use them for larger loans, for which they can charge interest over a long time.

Castle and Crystal has 4,300 members and is growing. In February it opened 100 new savings accounts, compared with 61 in the same month last year. It issued £82,000 of loans, a 203 per cent rise on the previous year.

Dharminder Dhaliwal, business and finance manager at Castle and Crystal, says: "About 1.6 million people use payday lenders each year. As a credit union we need to do most of our loans at £800 or more to break even. Payday loans are for less than that and that's why they've always charged what they want."

Payday lenders are already prevented from rolling over loans more than twice and have been restricted in their ability to drain money from bank accounts. The £2.8 billion sector has come under intense scrutiny amid outrage over the way some consumers have been treated. The FCA's proposals, if approved, would take effect from next January.

Mr Austin says he will continue to campaign against payday lenders — "I want to see these people driven out of business altogether."

WEEK IN POLITICS

with Daniel Wainwright

NIGEL Hastlow is standing in for Daniel who is on holiday

IS there really any difference between Nigel Farage and Alex Salmond?

Or, to put it another way, is UKIP's ambition for a country free from the shackles of the European Union any different from the Scottish Nationalists' desire to be rid of Westminster?

Both parties appeal to the same nationalist — some would say parochial and isolationist — instincts.

How could a supporter of Britain's independence from Europe quibble if the Scots felt the same way about England?

The sight of Alex Salmond lording it around Glasgow like the King of the Commonwealth Games is enough to infuriate most Brits. The leader of the Scots Nats clearly hopes the games will be another nail in the coffin of the historic United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

This is not unlike Nigel Farage's hope that success in May's Euro elections will translate into a breakthrough in next year's General Election.

Mr Farage may be a Home Counties gin-and-tonic man compared to Mr Salmond's highland whisky. But is Mr Farage wrapping himself in the Union Jack really very different from Mr Salmond in a Saltire?

Both men come from outside the established political parties. They are both adept populists. They both articulate deeply-held views which are ignored by mainstream politicians. They are both 'people's politicians'. But there is a difference between them — history. Mr Farage has history on his side; Mr Salmond does not.

England and Scotland have, for all practical purposes, been a single unified country since 1603. That's when Henry VII's great-great grandson James IV of Scotland took over from Elizabeth I and became James I of England as well. He called himself King of Great Britain and Ireland.

The two countries were formally united 100 years later and, despite a few ups and downs, they have been happily and successfully united ever since.

In the intervening three centuries or so, England and Scotland worked peacefully together as one nation (along with the Welsh and many of the Irish) to create a global powerhouse.

Yet when we look at Britain's — not just England's — relations with the rest of Europe, things look quite different. For centuries we have worked to keep the peace across the English Channel. We have been forced to sacrifice lives at frighteningly regular intervals to rescue Europe from its own folly. That is why we are marking the 100th anniversary of the outbreak of the First World War. It was not a conflict of our making.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people

I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

...we make saving money perfectly clear...

New era of lower wages and higher rents

ANYONE who doubts that the UK has moved into a low paid service industry economy only needs to look at the rapid increase in amateur landlords offering houses for rent. Rented accommodation has doubled over the last ten years whilst home ownership has fallen from 70 per cent to 60 per cent. We are rapidly moving back towards the Rachmanism of the 1950s when immigrants were exploited in London and rent controls had to be brought in. There is a perceived myth that builders have vast land banks which should be used for house building. This is a smokescreen put forward by governments to hide the fact that house price inflation is controlled by the supply of easy finance, a trick used to make homeowners feel better off, particularly where votes can be generated. The rich are certainly getting richer but so are the greedy. Councillors in Dudley who gave themselves a large increase in expenses a few years ago whilst seeing fit to reduce public services. In fairness, some elected members do not claim their fees, which was the case in the 1950s when after a meeting they were lucky to get their bus fare home. They have also started calling committees 'cabinets' to make it sound as though they are worth more remuneration. Zero hours contracts are an indication that an economy is moving downwards because this can distort unemployment figures. The scenario we now find ourselves in is the result of production going to Third World countries in the quest for cheap labour. The plight we now face will be difficult to reverse. R SLIMM Dudley

Council's justification is an insult

IT'S no surprise that Labour councillors have opposed the move to cut their numbers by a third. Saving money is not what they are about, more like wasting it and blaming Government cuts.

It makes you question what the extra 24 are doing for their fat little earners — absolutely nothing, apparently.

The reason given by David Sparks is that we could do without them but, as all the other councils are over-manned, we won't be different. This is an insult to council tax payers.

The worrying thing is this man is in charge and, with a Labour Government backing him, I fear that the days of council tax freezes and better services are coming to an end and the return of massive public spending is imminent.

Driver education more vital than speed limits

I SEE that Thorns Road, Quarry Bank, is to have its 40mph speed limit reduced to 30mph. I would firstly like to say that the unfortunate death of the man who was knocked down by a lorry was not due to speed but that of an attacker who forced the man to run into path of the vehicle. Secondly, reducing the speed will not cure any problem Thorns Road has. What is needed is driver education and this can only be dealt with at the learning stage of driving. Following this, tough action must be taken against drivers who disregard any speed limit. How many times have those driving legally on a clear road found in the next viewing of their rear view mirror that they have a vehicle on their bumper? This can only be because that driver is breaking whatever the limit is. On learning to drive I was told by a very wise man: 'anyone can drive fast, it's stopping that is the problem'. On taking an advanced driving course, before getting behind a wheel we were told 'at times 5mph is too fast and at other times 70mph is not fast enough'. It is all to do with driver judgement, awareness and, most importantly, observations. If drivers disregard any one of those, the standard of driving in this country will continue to cause death and injury.

I SEE Wolverhampton Civic Hall is looking for a temporary venue, what's wrong with Dudley Hippodrome? If West Bromwich is looking to compete with the Civic, I can only assume live entertainment is pretty popular these days. Why can't Dudley Council see this?

They harp on about the theatres struggling but they don't listen to me. I live in the real world. I know entertainers are crying out for the Hippo to reopen. It can be a multi-purpose venue that can cater for bands easily, also as theatre in the future too. Good luck to the Civic, I've been there many times, and the Grand for that matter. Ukulele lady entertains the group

Penn TG

MRS McInnes welcomed everyone to the last meeting and introduced the speaker Gabriella, known as the 'Ukulele Lady'.

She immediately set the scene with the "Telephone Song" from around 1923, and followed with "You are my Sunshine". Gabriella had several ukuleles, all different in size and all with different sounds.

Ukuleles originated in Portugal and workers from there went to work in Hawaii in 1879 cutting sugar cane and they took their instruments with them.

Hawaiians started playing ukuleles, swaying and wearing grass skirts and flowers as they danced.

Gabriella skilfully involved the audience in her stories and it was a wonderfully funny evening.

The Gardening Group visited the Dower House at Morville. It was a delightful garden and coffee and home-made shortcake was served in the house.

A group of ladies from St Bart's Church, Penn formed a band and entertained the Social Studies group.

The Guild had chosen a few songs and the band supplied the others as members sang along to some old popular tunes. Strawberries and cream were served in the break and everyone had a very enjoyable evening.

On September 10, Andrew Lound will speak about 'Scott of the Antarctic' at an open meeting. Visitors are welcome at a cost of £3. On September 24 Ed Shore's topic will be 'Cycling Across America'.

Members join fun of Alice themed party

Guest has Wisdom of his subject's life

VICE chairman Vera Raybould presided over the July meeting.

The 26 members present were welcomed and there were two visitors from the federation.

The meeting progressed as usual with the reading and signing of the previous month's minutes also the treasurer's report.

Mrs Raybould was the group's representative at the National AGM. She gave an excellent report of the items discussed and voted upon and also of the venue itself.

Tickets for the Federation Lunch at the Mill Hotel were distributed.

Social secretary Mrs Writtle gave final information regarding the visit and afternoon tea at David Austin Roses. The names were taken of those wishing to visit 'The Lodge'.

He certainly knew his subject, from the days of poverty and hardship, through time spent in the navy and army to the time of success and the meeting with such illustrious show-business stars as Marilyn Monroe, Laurel and Hardy and Charlie Chaplin.

Mr Sampson was thanked for a very interesting talk about an entertainer who gave so much pleasure.

Next month, August 19, the speaker will be Mary Edwards - her topic 'Four seasons' gardens'.

Wollaston 'E' TWG

THE July meeting took the form of the guild summer tea party with an Alice in Wonderland theme and members were asked, if possible, to wear something appropriate.

Everyone joined in and various characters were represented. Ann Powell's portrayal of the Queen of Hearts was worthy of an Oscar award.

The tea organised by the committee was as usual, a great success, and enjoyed by all. This was followed by Irish Bingo, organised by Betty Collins and Pat Archer. Lesley Wall was the winner.

The Floral Art section had an enjoyable visit to Trentham Gardens, enhanced by the glorious, sunny weather.

Anyone wishing to attend the Federation Harvest Lunch, at Wollaston Village Hall, on Wednesday, October 1 should contact Sue Ward to check on availability.

Chairman Jean Latham wished everyone a happy summer break as there is no meeting in August. The next meeting is at 7.30pm on September 9 at St James Church Hall, Wollaston.

Speaker rose to the occasion

THE club had a wonderful evening on July 25 listening to a talk by Sue Russell on old fashioned roses.

She was a superb speaker, taking everyone through the centuries with the different smelling roses.

This was well attended and everyone agreed it was a worthy meeting. It ended up with "Question Time" which went on for some time and Sue patiently answered every question, followed by coffee and biscuits. A plant sale took place as usual. The chairman suggested that members may like to open up their own gardens during the coming year for viewing by the club.

In Clent Parish Hall on August 23 there will be a practical demonstration on "Pruning" by John Millington.

Together again after 18 months of heartbreak

THEY met, fell in love and married 14 years ago – only to have their lives ripped apart when immigration officials stopped them living together in the UK.

Eighteen months after their struggle with the Home Office began, Robert and Adna Cooper are back in each others' arms in Dudley after winning a landmark appeal.

Adna, 35, has been granted a visa to move back to the UK from her homeland of Brazil to be with her 39-year-old husband. It came after Adna, who was refused permanent entry to the UK last year, won an appeal process which ended in May with an immigration hearing in Birmingham.

Home

Robert was finally able to bring his wife home to Pensnett last week. The pair, who have spent about £5,000 on legal costs, are desperate to move on with their lives following their ordeal.

Robert, a pastor for the First Renewal Presbyterian Church, said: "It has been really difficult for her. She felt almost like a second class citizen, not being allowed to return here with me." Adna said: "It was an extremely difficult period for me, the whole situation of being refused, being apart, unable to carry on with our lives, spending all our savings, was unbearable."

The couple met when Robert, a former pupil at Pensnett School, was doing church work in the suburbs of Sao Paulo in 1999. They returned to the UK the following year and Adna was given a resident visa before they married at Kingswinford Christian Centre in July. After returning to Brazil in 2003, the pair encountered problems on wanting to return to the UK ten years later.

Reunited — married couple Robert and Adna Cooper, of Pensnett

Under new immigration rules, only British people who earn more than £18,600 can sponsor their non-European spouse's visa. Robert earned enough but he was unable to get payslips to prove it due to his employer being a non-profit organisation and the pair were forced to live apart.

The pair managed to overturn the Home Office decision after giving evidence at a hearing in Birmingham and the pair now live with Robert's parents in Comber Drive. Robert said: "They are discriminating and being unfair to many families. We are not just numbers and names, we are people."

COMMERCIAL FEATURE

Don't be disappointed - choose Choices Windows

The home improvement market is changing and the demand for more choice in colour and suitability of PVC-U doors and windows is growing. Fashionable additions such as orangeries are increasingly desirable, as more people look for ways to improve their home.

Established since 1994, Tipton Windows & Conservatories Ltd, trading as Choices, believe that the latest trends are important, but quality products and exceptional service will always be paramount, which this family run business have proven over two decades.

Situated on Sedgley Road West in Tipton, the founder and company Managing Director Nathan Beddows started the business from scratch at the early age of 19 working out of the very same premises as he does today. He explains his passion:

"I cannot stress enough how much pride we take in every window, door, conservatory, orangerie we manufacture and install."

With its roots in manufacturing, the business started more than 20 years ago, and right from the very start an emphasis has been placed on supplying only the finest and most energy-efficient products, but still remaining affordable.

"Our commitment extends beyond the manufacturing process to the design and installation of doors, windows, conservatories and other home improvement services," explains Nathan.

"For some customers we supply new windows and doors, for others we provide a complete home improvement service from building extensions and fitting kitchens, to designing and installing conservatories and more recently Orangeries," says Nathan.

One tremendously satisfied customer is Rick Houghton. Having been recommended to Choices Windows by colleagues at work he employed them to carry out extensive work at his home, he is keen to share his experiences and commend the team involved.

"Every stage of the process was excellently planned and we received nothing but the best service from start to finish. The tradesmen were outstanding and we were so impressed that we handed over our keys and went on holiday whilst the work was being carried out."

Rick and his family were absolutely thrilled and utterly delighted with the results on their return.

"We are so grateful to Nathan and his team for transforming our home into something we could only have dreamed of," remarked Rick.

Keen to keep ahead in the style stakes, Nathan is ever aware of the latest designs, materials and colours on offer, and strives to make these available to his customers.

"Many people are now opting for stylish coloured PVC-U, influenced by timeless muted 'National Trust' tones. Sage green, gun metal grey and cream are all becoming very fashionable alongside the traditional clean bright white," explains Nathan.

Fitting new PVC-U windows can be a good choice for the environment as well as for your home. Replacing dated double glazing can help save money on heating bills and reduce the carbon footprint of a residence.

"We offer A-rated energy-efficient windows and doors which can help save up to £250 from heating bills in the first year alone. They not only reflect heat back into the house, but also retain heat from solar gain," remarks Nathan.

"As a company we pride ourselves on giving old fashioned value for money and excellent service, we can undertake the majority of jobs and because we manufacture in house at our premises unlike the majority of our local competitors it enables us to have full control so we can manage your project from start to completion ensuring your experience is stress free."

"After many years in the Double glazing business we have seen a lot of competitors come and go, unfortunately leaving many customers without any warranty, after parting with their hard earned cash. Any customer who is considering having any home improvements should choose carefully and do their homework on the company they are considering, ensure if you part with money upfront it is protected by a Fensa approved deposit indemnity scheme, ask to visit previous customers but most importantly don't be fooled by the salesmen's tactics of a tempting "sign on the night low price offer" that the double glazing industry is notorious for "advises Nathan.

The old sayings are always the best - after a low price is long forgotten, poor quality long remains".

Phenomenal achievement by a brilliant head teacher

PRIORY School has just been rated 'good' by Ofsted with inspectors saying it's on track to be outstanding.

What a phenomenal achievement by the school's brilliant head teacher Jill Bennett who has worked so hard to turn the school around after it ended up in special measures a couple of years ago. We should all be congratulating Ms Bennett, her staff, the governors, parents, pupils and everyone else who have turned the school around.

We've got to get behind heads and teachers like her who are working hard to improve local schools. It's been a similar story at Ellowes Hall. Results are improving at Castle High and Dormston is being turned around too, and I don't see why every school should not be aiming to be a good or outstanding school.

It just shows that we are as good as anyone. With the right support, young people from Dudley can do just as well as those anywhere else. Why should children born in Dudley face worse education prospects than children born elsewhere in the country? I am determined to change this by making education our number one priority in Dudley to bring better schools, better skills and better jobs to the area.

There's no reason why we shouldn't set the ambition for Dudley and the Black Country to have the biggest improvement in schools standards in the country. These results show that we can do it.

I regularly visit local

THE WAY I SEE IT

Dudley North Labour MP Ian Austin takes the stand in our weekly Chronicle column which gives our local representatives the chance to air their views

'With the right support, young people from Dudley can do just as well as those anywhere else. We are as good as anyone.'

schools to talk about the work that I do and how students with an interest in politics, the media or public relations can get involved. I offer work experience opportunities in Dudley and Westminster and have never turned anyone down.

Lots of other local businesses do the same and it's a great way for young people to get a foot on the ladder or find out more about a career. That's why I was really pleased to be awarded a gold certificate for youth friendly employment practices from Youth Employment UK. The charity works to tackle youth employment by encouraging employers to engage with young people, something that's particularly important here in Dudley where long-term youth unemployment is twice the national average.

I want as many local firms as possible to apply for their youth friendly badge following the example of businesses like Thomas Dudley Ltd and its Careers in the Classroom scheme. The scheme provides schools with presentations from local professionals and businesses, as well as a website with advice for students. I recently had the opportunity to record my own careers video with Philippa Rowley from Thomas Dudley, talking about getting into politics. The great thing about Careers in the Classroom is that students get to see local people talking about their jobs.

Last week the Government finally listened to local people's concerns and announced long-overdue action to tackle UK jobs being advertised abroad. These are issues that I have been campaigning on for a long time, so I'm pleased that 60,000 West Midlands jobs will no longer be advertised abroad and that there will be new limits on benefits for migrants. But it's too little too late. I revealed the number of local jobs being advertised overseas more than a year ago and I've been calling for benefit restrictions for even longer than that.

I think that immigration has brought benefits to Britain. But if you want to live here you've got to be prepared to work hard and pay your way. I share concerns about the impact immigration has had on people in Dudley and the Black Country.

That's why I have always supported measures like the last Government's introduction of an Australian-style points system.

There's still much more we can do. People shouldn't be able to work in Britain and send back tax credits. They shouldn't be able to come to Britain and be unemployed and they shouldn't be able to come to Britain as soon as their country joins the EU.

If you have always worked hard and contributed taxes you should be entitled to more help than someone who has never worked and never contributed. That way we can make sure that the system is fair to local people.

Man was found dead in garage

A MAN was found hanged in the garage of his home in Kingswinford.

Police discovered the body of 45-year-old Mark Pinches after being called to his address in Murdoch Drive on April 4. Smetwick Coroners Court this week heard officers had found him hanged by a rope from the beams of the garage ceiling. He was confirmed dead at the scene by paramedics.

Senior Black Country coroner Mr Robin Balmain said the cause of death had been asphyxia. There was no sign of alcohol in his system. Mr Pinches had not left a note.

His sister Karen Yates said he had been a 'loved and well-respected man' with a lot of friends.

Mr Balmain gave a conclusion that Mr Pinches had hanged himself.

Child pornography offender, aged 61, walks free from court

A MAN who posted 1,174 images of child pornography and six indecent video clips on to a website walked free from court after a judge was told about his wife's poor health.

Andrew Waddell-Tillbrook, aged 61, from Park Road, Netherton, was made the subject of a three-year supervision order with a requirement to take part in a sex-offenders' programme when he appeared before Wolverhampton Crown Court last week.

By Mark Andrews

The self-employed IT worker was also ordered to register as a sex offender for five years and was disqualified from working with children for the same period.

The court was told that at a previous hearing, Waddell-Tillbrook admitted five counts of distributing child porn and five further counts of possessing indecent images of children.

Mr Tom Walking, defending, said there was a good prospect that his client could be rehabilitated. He had no previous convictions.

He added that Waddell-Tillbrook's wife of 35 years was extremely ill, having undergone heart surgery and spinal and abdominal treatment.

"She relies on my client for support," said Mr Walking.

Judge Alan Parker said Waddell-Tillbrook's behaviour was 'utterly repellant' but had taken account of his wife's serious illness, and believed that a community order was the best way to ensure he did not reoffend.

Safety work being planned for bend

A CAMPAIGN for safety improvements on a 'dangerous' bend in Upper Gornal has taken a step forward.

Dudley North MP Ian Austin has been calling for work to be carried out on the bend where Church Street and Temple Street meet.

More than 500 signatures were collected for a petition which prompted Dudley Council to carry out a review and Mr Austin said he hoped work would now be carried out later this year.

He said: "The council have informed us that safety improvements will be made as part of a programme of works later this year. We are expecting new warning signs and road markings at a minimum."

Lifesaving Badgers need new generation of recruits

CHILDREN'S first aid groups in the Black Country face an uncertain future due to fewer recruits.

Sandwell and Dudley branches of the St John Ambulance Badger groups need more volunteers when sessions start again in September.

The first aid charity says numbers are getting low and they are looking for more youngsters aged five to 10. The Badgers teach the next generation of first aiders, as the children learn important life saving skills and team work. They also take part in activities such as camping.

Carolyn Zivoder, regional youth co-ordinator for St John Ambulance, said: "Badgers learn the life saving skills which could one day be the difference between a life lost and a life saved. However, becoming a Badger isn't only about learning first aid. It's a great way to make new friends and, most importantly, have fun in a safe environment. Many St John Ambulance volunteers who start as Badgers stay with us for many years and end up working in the medical profession."

Research carried out by St John Ambulance shows that less than one in seven West Midlands residents know even the basic life saving skills – so teaching children from an early age could make a big difference.

The Dudley group, which only has three regular members, meets on Thursdays at Ollis Hall, Vicar Street. The Sandwell group also meet on Thursdays, at the charity's centre in Roebuck Lane in West Bromwich. Sessions for both start again in September after a summer break.

Contact Carolyn Zivoder on 0121 236 6660 or email carolyn.zivoder@sja.org.uk

Residents to discuss issues at meetings

RESIDENTS will be able to discuss issues and concerns about their estates at a series of meetings taking place across Dudley borough.

Dudley Council has organised the tenants and residents association events which will be held in Dudley, Stourbridge and Brierley Hill.

The first event will be the Corbys Bromley meeting held on August 18 at the senior citizens club, in Brierley Hill, from 6.30pm.

It will be followed by the Parkes Street tenants and residents association meeting at the Limes Social Club, also Brierley Hill, on August 21 at 7.30pm.

New Wrens Nest tenants and residents association will meet at Wrens Nest Community Centre, Dudley, on August 11 at 7pm.

In Stourbridge, the Love Claycroft tenants and residents association will hold a fun day at the Green, in Sadlers Close, from 10am until 1pm.

Anyone who wishes to attend the meetings should telephone (01384) 815168 to ensure the meeting is still taking place, as they may be subject to change.

£10m fund will help more young people work

A £10 million fund will be spent in the Black Country to help turn around the lives of 1,400 deprived young people.

The money from the Big Lottery Fund is being aimed at 18 to 24-year-olds who have been out of work or education for more than a year – as well as carers, ex-drug addicts and young offenders.

Six 'hubs' are to be set up in Wolverhampton, Sandwell, Dudley and Walsall from September.

The scheme, called Talent Match Black Country, is intended to help them overcome their individual problems that stop them getting into work. It will work with young parents, travelling families, disabled young people and the homeless to get them in touch with employers and help them to develop skills.

There will also be mentoring of each individual young person involved by trained staff including those who have been through similar problems.

The project is being overseen by Wolverhampton Voluntary Sector Council. Its chief executive Ian Darch said: "Young people themselves will be at the very centre of this and will make up half of the steering group."

"We want to help young people who have been out of employment, education or training for 12 months or more and support them into work. Each young person will be working with a mentor."

Young people will be referred to the scheme through the Job Centre or through private companies providing the Government's Work Programme, which provides personalised support to people to find work.

Details have emerged a week after Wolverhampton South East MP Pat McFadden revealed a scheme he had set up to offer young people work experience had helped 220 into jobs over two years. The unpaid placements were offered by employers including New Cross Hospital, brewer Marston's and Beacon Centre for the Blind.

Others, such as the Robin 2 music venue in Bilston, Barnshaw Steel Bending at Coseley and water cooler firm Angel Springs, in Ettingshall, also offered places.

In its first year 157 placements were taken up and 45 young people got jobs. But a report on the results of the second year from JobCentre Plus shows that a further 380 places were offered, resulting in 179 young people getting jobs.

The scheme has had a success rate of 47 per cent.

Many will not look after elderly parents

ALMOST a third of people in the West Midlands would not look after their ageing parents if they needed full time care, a survey has found.

Charity bosses from Age UK say the figures reflect a worrying trend across the country.

Figures released by the charity showed that 20 per cent of people in the UK thought they lacked the necessary skills to care for their parents. Of the 29 per cent of West Midlands people who said they would not look after their parents full time, half said their house wasn't big enough and 43 per cent said they wouldn't be able to cope.

Jeni Kushton, care manager at Care UK, said: "From our experience, the thought of putting parents in a care home can come with great concern. Often the decision is made at crisis point. This is why we encourage people to discuss the subject of care with their parents before it becomes a necessity."

Pub family event is helping three charities

AN ASSISTANT pub manager is aiming to raise thousands of pounds for three charities following the death of her mother and two friends.

Amiee Hadlington lost her mother Lynda Gadsden after she suffered a heart attack aged 54. Then her friend Lorean Timmins also died of a heart attack aged 54 just six months later.

Her close friend Tommy Bona lost his battle with pancreatic cancer four years ago at the age of 43.

Diagnosed

And in the last six months her one-year-old niece Lexi has been diagnosed with Fanconi Syndrome, a condition which affects the kidneys.

Now the 29-year-old mother-of-one is organising a fundraiser on August 17 at The Swan Inn in Gospel End Street, Sedgley, where she works, to raise cash for three charities - The British Heart Foundation, Pancreatic Cancer UK and Fanconi Hope.

Amiee said: "Mum was only young when she had a heart attack and so was Lor, so the British Heart Foundation is a charity which is close to my heart. Tommy was so full of life and when he died he left behind his wife and two children."

"My niece is such a lovely baby so I want to raise money to fund research for pancreatic cancer and Fanconi Syndrome. Ideally I want to raise at least £1,000 but hopefully people will dig deep in their pockets and if it all goes well I will hold another fun day in the future."

During the 11am to 7pm event there will be singers, karaoke, disco, face painting, name the teddy competition, stalls, a barbecue and bouncy castle.

There will also be a tombola with special prizes including a trip to

Amiee Hadlington and her son Tyler get ready for The Swan Inn's charity day

Fundraising inspired by Lynda Gadsden, Lorean Timmins and Tommy Bona

Blackpool, a meal for two and a signed picture of chart-topping Canadian crooner Michael Buble.

Amiee, of Rosewood Road, Dudley, added: "I am looking for anyone who can donate prizes to raffle off as well as a beautician who would give up their time for a charity wax off."

To donate items, offer services or for more information about the charity day contact Mrs Hadlington on 07929 131068.

Drunk teacher crashed into van while banned

A TEACHER from Dudley crashed his car into a van while drunk just two weeks after being disqualified from driving, a court heard.

Father-of-two Michael Chapman smashed into the back of a Ford Transit van in Standhills Road, Kingswinford, on April 30 and then drove off, Dudley Magistrates' Court was told. He was followed by the van's driver who stopped him and called police and paramedics.

Chapman, who was driving without insurance, was taken to hospital and a blood sample was taken. Alcohol in his system measured 102 milligrammes. The legal limit for driving is 80 milligrammes per 100 millilitres of blood.

The 39-year-old, of Penzer Street, Kingswinford, had previously been disqualified for 20 months for an offence of drink driving that had taken place on March 25.

Course

At a hearing on June 18, Chapman pleaded guilty to driving a motor vehicle when above the alcohol limit, use of a motor vehicle without third party insurance, driving while disqualified and failing to stop after a road accident.

Last week he was handed a 16-week prison sentence suspended for 12 months and was also disqualified from driving for 40 months and put on a supervision order for a year. He has to pay £85 costs, an £80 surcharge and was told to attend a drink driving course.

Mr Mark Cooper, prosecuting, said Chapman, who now works as an ICT curriculum leader at a school in Birmingham, made a full and frank admission to the offences.

Miss Catherine Janor, defending, said Chapman had been experiencing a breakdown following a traumatic event that had led to the loss of his job. "My client was in a fragile state of mind on the day," she added.

Deputy District Judge Munro, told Chapman: "You are highly regarded and this offence can only be said to be out of character."

Wave of nostalgia at zoo

Chief executive Peter Suddock at the restored entrance to Dudley Zoo

DUDLEY Zoo's iconic 'wave' entrance has been restored to its former glory with a new lick of paint and dramatic lighting.

The eye-catching building on Castle Hill has been restored to its original blue colour and lights have been put behind the 'zoo' letters to make them stand out at night.

Metal meshing has been re-painted and part of the roof, a series of S-shaped interlocking canopies, has been repaired.

Chief executive Peter Suddock said he was delighted with the revamped entrance.

"Painting work on the entrance has been completed and we are really pleased with the results."

RAFA members at the clubhouse in Dixons Green Road, Dudley, in the 1970s

RAFA members working on the clubhouse in Dixons Green Road, Dudley, in 1974

Members enjoying a beer and comradeship at the Dudley branch of RAFA

RAF Association branch seeking new members

ONCE hundreds of members came together in remembrance, raised a pint with their comrades and enjoyed social evenings.

But now a Royal Air Force Association branch is facing an uncertain future unless they attract a new generation of members.

The 621 (Dudley) branch of the Royal Air Force Association has a proud history dating back almost 70 years.

Some earned their wings in Hurricane fighters as battles raged in the skies during the Second World War while others grafted during their National Service.

Numbers of veterans have dwindled over the years from hundreds until now only three active full members remain.

Two associate members, those who have not served for the RAF, also attend meetings and have helped draft a new social calendar.

MEMORY LANE

By Andrew Turlton

The group hope to attract some of the 50 members still on the books back to regular meetings while also bringing new people on board. Otherwise members may have to instead join the Wolverhampton branch.

Flying the flag for the branch are three members who still hold weekly meetings for free at the Ex-Service-men's Club, in Hall Street, Dudley.

Future

This year marks the 50th year that branch president John Deane, aged 77, has been involved with the association. Having joined the Air Training Corp in 1951 he went on to complete two years of National Service with the RAF.

Mr Deane, of Kingswinford, said they were keen to ensure the club has a future as well as a proud past. "We are struggling. It would be a shame if it could not continue," he added.

Branch secretary Sergeant Stan West, of Tipton, joined the RAF Association branch around seven years ago. He had previously been part of the 347 Squadron working in air electronics.

"One of the problems that we know is that certain people, because of age, don't want to come out at night. But if they arrange it for us then we would pick them up," he said.

The club opened in 1947 in a rented room over the old Dudley Fire Station in Priory Road. In December 1972 the association bought the former home of Bob Kennedy, impresario of Dudley Hippodrome, in Dixons Green Road. Many social events and charity fundraisers were held over the years. Among well known members was George Heritage, one of the last Hurricane pilots and a survivor of three plane crashes.

The clubhouse was sold four years ago. Now the group meet on the third Wednesday of every month at 8pm at the Ex-Servicemen's Club. To find out more call John on (01384) 830574 or Stan on 0121 530 2970.

Dudley's £6.7m market place redevelopment

Castle Street and New Street to re-open

Castle Street, New Street and Fisher Street in Dudley town centre will re-open to general traffic this weekend, with buses operating as normal from Sunday 10 August.

Phase one of this exciting project to transform Dudley town centre includes, laying high quality natural stone on roads and pavements, creating new car parking bays in Castle Street, disabled parking, a drop off point for park and ride and a motorcycle bay for three motorcycles as well as new lighting columns, seating and litter bins. The new public toilets also opened in Castle Street in July.

Dudley Council would like to thank shops, businesses, residents and shoppers for their continued patience during this time and hope that people continue to support their town centre.

Work on the market place itself started a few weeks ago and continues to progress well.

Crews rescue terrified horse from the canal

By hook or by crook – this is the dramatic moment that rescue workers dragged a stricken horse from the canal at Coseley

THIS was the dramatic moment fire crews rescued a terrified horse trapped in a 6ft deep stretch of a Black Country canal.

The stricken animal had fallen into the water near Walbrook Bridge at Coseley while tethered to ground nearby.

When the crews from Tipton arrived they found the animal struggling to keep its head above the water.

It had been unable to stand because of the depth of the water and had been forced to try to swim to prevent itself from drowning.

The alarm was raised by a passing boat owner at around 8am yesterday. A technical rescue unit devised plans to pull the horse out of the canal under the guidance of the RSPCA.

Shallower

They were able to cut the chain and guide the animal to a shallower area by the edge of the canal.

With the support of the fire service's Technical Rescue Unit, a team of eight firefighters used long slings to hoist the horse from the water and to safety. Tipton watch commander Keith Hampton said the rescue took about 45 minutes.

"When we got there we saw the large horse tethered by a chain trying to swim."

"It must have been tethered nearby and fallen in the canal."

"It's not an easy job rescuing a horse, which is why I called the Technical Rescue Unit from Wednesbury, which has the right equipment for the job."

The horse was not injured but was said to be in shock because of the ordeal.

Midge and Kiki in feast of the arts

SINGERS Midge Ure and Kiki Dee, broadcaster Joan Bakewell, actress Judy Cornwell and former Labour minister Chris Mullin form part of a varied bill as this year's Bewdley Festival celebrates its 27th year.

It will bring a feast of the arts to the Worcestershire town for 10 days in October. Ultravox and Band Aid star Midge Ure opens the festival on October 10, his 61st birthday.

The line-up also includes comedian Hal Cruttenden, jazz star Courtney Pine, actress Jo Enright, pianist Andrei Gavrilov, historian Max Keen and a festival finale from The Overtures.

See www.bewdleyfestival.org.uk with tickets also available on 01905 611427 or from Bewdley Tourist Information Centre.

Real Estate sounds like good investment

BROOKLYN-BASED rock quintet Real Estate will be in concert at Digbeth venue The Institute on October 24.

The band originally from New Jersey have made one of best rock albums of the year so far with their Chicago-recorded Atlas, a slow burning sleeper hit of an album that is likely to be on many hipster summer playlists.

The Birmingham date (tickets £14.50) follows their appearance at The Green Man Festival in Wales this month and the release of new single Had To Hear coupled with their cover of The Nervest's Paper Dolls.

California sunshine Creation

AMERICAN duo The Pierces are coming to Birmingham's Glee Club next month as part of a ten city UK tour to support their new album Creation.

It is the follow-up to sisters Allison and Catherine Pierce's 2011 breakthrough album, You & I, when the Alabama-born siblings also played the club venue in The Arcadian Centre.

Glorious

That album yielded radio favourites You'll Be Mine, Glorious and It Will Not Be Forgotten. It also won the girls a support slot to Coldplay.

Now resident in California, Creation reflects the duo's West Coast sun-drenched location while retaining the breezy, melodious charm of their previous folk/pop work, and includes single Kings.

Creation is out on September 1 and The Pierces play the Glee on September 24. Tickets £16.

FROM Sweet to Suzi Quatro, chart hits from the 1970s and 80s will feature in a new family musical arriving in Birmingham next month.

The cast of Blockbuster The Musical includes 70s pop star and TV sit-com actor Paul Nicholas along with former Hear'Say and Emmerdale star Suzanne Shaw.

The show is staged at the New Alexandra Theatre in Birmingham from September 23 to 27.

Paul Nicholas will play Crazy Max in the musical featuring the hits of the songwriting team Nicky Chinn and Mike Chapman.

Blockbuster The Musical begins in the modern era with Mickey Block, a young busker, singing in London's Soho. But when he crashes a car without insurance he is pursued by a loan shark and has to take refuge in Crazy Max's Retro Record shop.

Mystical Max tells him he can turn his life around if he performs two selfless deeds within seven days — and then finds himself transported back in time to London in 1975.

Friends

Paul Nicholas became a household favourite with his role as Vince in the award-winning BBC TV series Just Good Friends. His theatrical success began in 1969 in the original London production of Hair. This was followed by leading roles in Jesus Christ Superstar, Grease, Cats, Blondel and Charlie Girl.

He also appeared as the Pirate King in a highly successful production of The Pirates of Penzance and starred in the first ever national tour of Barnum.

In more recent years he has had a successful career as a theatre producer.

He said: "I am hoping it will be an entertaining family show."

"People can bring their children and also be reminded of the great songs from the 70s."

Suzanne is best known for winning the ITV show Popstars The Rivals and being in Hear'Say from 2001 to 2003.

She has since carved out a career in the West End, appearing in Chicago and The Rocky Horror Picture Show as well as becoming a regular on TB screens playing Eve Jensen in Emmerdale.

The book of the musical has been penned by David Soames, who co-wrote the musical Time for Cliff Richard which ran for two years in the West End.

The huge number of hits featured in the show will include chart-toppers by Sweet, Suzi Quatro, Smokie, Tina Turner and Mud, including Ballroom Blitz, Blockbuster, Teenager Rampage, Little Willy, Tiger Feet, Devil Gate Drive, Can The Can, Some Girls, Lay Back in the Arms of Someone, Living Next Door To Alice, Better Be Good to Me and Mickey.

Asia putting back gig by 48 hours

ROCK band Asia have changed their date for a Black Country gig.

The British band had been due to play Wolverhampton's Wulfrun Hall on October 30 but this has been moved by 48 hours to November 1. Promoters said the change was due to the band having media commitments.

The British supergroup's 1982 debut album was the biggest selling album in America that year. The band reunited in 2006 and the latest four man line up includes John Wetton guitar and vocals, Carl Palmer drums, Geoff Downes keyboards and new guitarist Bromsgrove-born Sam Coulson, stepping into Steve Howe's shoes. They have a new album out entitled Gravitas.

War and fairy tale themes at ballet

CLASSIC ballets will be part of Birmingham Royal Ballet's autumn programme at its home theatre, Birmingham Hippodrome.

From September 30 to October 4, the timeless fairy tale Beauty and the Beast will return to the repertoire for magical performances choreographed by company director David Bintley.

The Shadows of War will follow from October 8 to 11, including Kenneth MacMillan's La Fin du jour, Bintley's Flowers of the Forest and Gillian Lynne's reworking of Robert Helpmann's groundbreaking 1940s work Miracle in the Gorbals.

The Village (BBC1, 9pm)

The epic drama charting the life and times of Peak District villagers moves into the 1920s, where the arrival of the jazz age has radically changed old perceptions of love, sex and politics. Life is good for the Allinghams in the big house, who are throwing a weekend party, and as part of their entertainment Bert takes part in a race – only to be accused of cheating. His father John is now a dairy farmer, but is struggling with his rent, so son Bert takes to the boxing ring.

Looking back at times of capital punishment

Over the years, British movies 10 Rillington Place, Dance with a Stranger and Let Him Have It have addressed the often disturbing subject of innocent and guilty people sentenced to death because of their connection with murder.

Now, half a century since Peter Allen and Gwynne Evans became the last two men to be hanged in Britain, this documentary looks back on people sentenced to death in the UK. Fourteen years before Allen and Evans were executed, Londoner Timothy Evans of Notting Hill was sentenced to death for the murder of his wife Beryl and baby daughter Geraldine. Maureen Westlake, Timothy's sister, is still tortured by the pain of injustice to this day.

For the first time, she speaks about the tragedy of her innocent brother going to the gallows for another man's heinous crime. Serial killer John Christie lived in the basement flat of the Evan's home at 10 Rillington Place. Timothy was in a highly emotional state following the deaths of his wife and daughter. An impressionable man, he would admit to anything, and made a false statement admitting to both murders after being coerced by the police.

However, after being charged with murder, Timothy retracted his confession and protested his innocence. Maureen, who saw him in prison with her sister Eileen, recalls the meeting: 'And I kept crying. And he said to Eileen 'What does she keep crying for?' and she said, 'You know what she's crying [about] Tim, Beryl and the baby,' and he said, 'I didn't do it, Eileen' He said 'Christie did it.' 'And the last time I saw him, he did look like a 10-year-old. His face was all pale. Waved and he said, 'cheerio.'"

Timothy was eventually granted a Royal Pardon in 1966, 16 years after being executed. Christie's crimes had been uncovered, but Timothy's conviction for murdering his daughter was not expunged, a matter which still plagues Maureen: "I feel that I have gone as far as I can," she explains. "But I think I am going to go to my grave still thinking that this Government have still not cleared him properly. And I still say it's the Government that killed that murdered Tim. Not killed him. Murdered him."

The makers of Executed visit prisons where death sentences were carried out until its abolition. Viewers also get a close look at how the condemned would have spent their last days, and the techniques and procedures used by the executioners.

This film also examines the case of 19-year old Derek Bentley. In 1953, he was hanged for the murder of a policeman, despite the fact he did not fire the fatal shot and had a mental age of 11. It was claimed he had uttered the words 'Let him have it' to incite his partner in crime Christopher Craig to shoot.

The show also features a profile of Ruth Ellis, the 28-year-old who was executed in 1955 for the shooting of her lover David Blakely. She became the last woman to be hanged in Britain, and her story was adapted for acclaimed 1985 movie Dance with a Stranger.

Dave Rodham features in Executed, Tuesday, ITV, 9pm

BEST OF THE REST

Kate Adie's Women of World War One BBC2, 9pm

As a distinguished war reporter, Kate Adie knows a thing or two about being on the frontline. But in this documentary, part of the BBC's ongoing season marking the centenary of the outbreak of the First World War, she's more interested in the women left on the Home Front. She discovers that for many of them, it was a chance to prove they could take on 'men's' jobs, from making shells and driving trams to forming a police force, operating on male patients and playing football in front of tens of thousands of spectators. But while some women experienced their first taste of freedom, it was also a time of bereavement and uncertainty. Adie asks whether the advances of the war continued after 1918, or if peacetime saw women banished back to the kitchen.

TUESDAY

Love Your Garden ITV, 8pm

The team comes to the aid of Luke Simpson, who lost his leg in an explosion on his last tour of duty in Afghanistan. While rebuilding his life and health with the support of his wife Jackie, the war hero has struggled to make progress on the garden of his dreams. As Alan and the crew work their magic,

Frances Tophill reveals the key design elements for a cottage-style plot, Katie Rushworth demonstrates how to make the most out of cut flowers and David Domoney provides hints and tips on maintaining the perfect lawn. Last in the series.

In the Club BBC1, 9pm

With Rick on the run from the police, Diane struggles to accept the reality of what he has done. She turns to Roana, the only person she feels she can trust, for some much-needed support - but it looks like the stress of the situation may have brought on her labour as she starts to experience pains that feel much more than Braxton Hicks. Jasmin and Dev have a houseguest, Diane's husband Rick, but when the police turn up the newlyweds are shocked to find out what's really going on. Will they cover for him? Teaching assistant Kim is also feeling the pressure in the aftermath of Rosie's dad's accident. When social services get involved her sense of responsibility is tested as she tries to protect the schoolgirl and her baby. Kay Mellor's drama, starring Jill Halfpenny, Will Mellor and Hermione Norris.

Bloomers, Friday, BBC1, 9pm

WEDNESDAY

Secrets from the Clink ITV, 9pm

Part two of two. Strictly Come Dancing judge Len Goodman explores the next chapter in the story of his great-great-grandfather, finding out how years of hard labour took their toll. Actress Michelle Collins is horrified to discover the Dickensian conditions one of her forebears experienced in a debtors' prison after the collapse of his business in tough economic times. Journalist

Daisy McAndrew follows the tale of an ancestor who dodged the hangman's noose and was transported to Australia, where her fortunes changed.

THURSDAY

Location, Location, Location Channel 4, 8pm
New series. Kirstie Allsopp and Phil Spencer guide prospective buyers through the complex world of property viewings and agents. They begin in the popular commuter county of Kent, where homes are snapped up quickly due to their proximity to London. Robin and Gemma have recently returned to the UK after three years in Singapore and want a family home to bring up their baby, while in Tunbridge Wells, Gemma and Barney are looking to buy their first place together in a very competitive market.

FRIDAY

Boomers BBC1, 9pm
New series. Comedy following the ups and downs of three newly retired couples living in the Norfolk resort of Thurmemouth. The friends prepare for the funeral of old friend Jean, although Alan seems more interested that her ex-husband, his old friend Mick, is flying over from Spain for the service. John is wary of the visitor, convinced he has had a thing for his wife Maureen ever since a notorious holiday in Weymouth many moons ago. Meanwhile, Joyce is preoccupied with the thought of her daughter-in-law giving birth any day now. Philip Jackson, Alison Steadman, Russ Abbot, Stephanie Beacham, Paula Wilcox and James Smith star, with a guest appearance by Nigel Planer.

Man space that's full of style

By Gabrielle Fagan

TIME was when decor was a girly pastime, and men who were enthusiastic about interior design were warily regarded as being a little too in touch with their feminine side.

How things change; nowadays men are unashamedly style savvy and are blazing a trail with a rough luxe look which appeals to women as well. It features textures – beaten, rusted metal, loft-style unplastered brick work – which combine brilliantly with dark tones and leather and create a hard-edged industrial/luxury gentleman's club combo.

“The lines are becoming more blurred over what style suits a “men’s space” and one which is shared by both sexes,” says Maurizio Pellizzoni, a designer at architecture and interiors firm MPD London.

“Undoubtedly, a rough luxe industrial dimension incorporating leathers and metallics which is striking without being overbearing, a characteristic of rooms that appeals to men, is becoming increasingly popular generally.”

The key to creating a successful male-orientated space is to create an environment which is stylish, refined and inviting, says Pellizzoni, as men want areas where they can instantly relax and unwind.

Sophisticated

“Fun and playful elements which distract from the everyday pressures and preoccupations of work make an interior interesting and add to the chill-down feel,” he says.

“In a recent project we created a sophisticated entertainment room for after-hours entertaining, which had a gentlemen’s club flavour.”

“It had a large cinema screen, a pool table and bespoke Hollywood-style bar. It’s all about a space which isn’t too serious in tone but speaks volumes about the client’s style, taste and design credentials.”

Another designer, Timothy Oulton – who has new ranges at Barker & Stonehouse which combine elegance and comfortable style accessorised by prints of historical sporting heroes, perfect for a unisex space – describes his style as “rooted in vintage British designs, but with a twist of the unexpected”.

“I like mixing bold combinations of authentic materials, like rich leather with shiny steel, or clear cut crystal with rusted metal,” he adds.

“Your home should be a source of energy, an inspiration for life’s journeys and adventures. It should become part of your story.”

What better time to encourage the man in your life to embrace his inner decor diva? Here’s the experts’ guide to rooms for the boys (and girls!) and the best kit around.

“When designing a male space, we often choose to use strong colours and lines to create a bold and distinguished look,” says designer

Katharine Pooley. For example, the current trend for warm metals, like copper and brass, works well in men’s rooms, as they are bold yet luxurious.”

Bold tones of red and burnt orange as accent colours will lift a design and give it a masculine edge, she says, while substantial fixtures and striking textures will complement a bold, masculine environment which is opulent while still being sleek and modern.

Unreconstructed males needn’t panic, as leather furniture – that ubiquitous sofa – is still an essential ingredient. Harvey’s L-shaped Sphere sofa in leather, is currently reduced from £1,099 to £999. Alternatively, if jaw-dropping humour’s more to your taste, settle into a seat that resembles the open mouth of Jaws, a Rodnik shark fin chair, £449, Made.com. Retro’s still in vogue and a Retro Bowler Hat Cushion, £37, Great British Designs, is a snip.

“Masculine interiors are effortlessly cool and can be created with relatively few elements,” says Claire Hornby, creative stylist at Barker & Stonehouse.

“Neutral colours, clean lines and sleek, stainless steel finishes will create a super-luxe feel, which will work well in modern spaces.

For those looking for something a little more traditional, natural materials such as aniline leathers and beautifully crafted chunky timbers, paired with soft lighting and dark walls, will exude an understated glamour.

Vintage maps and retro memorabilia inspired by pursuits such as riding, tennis and cricket will go hand in hand with this backdrop and will come together to establish a curated feel.”

Timothy Oulton’s collection includes a leather Charlie chair, £975 each, which teamed with a generous Axel Dining Table, £1,150, would be the ultimate in cool dining.

His Airfoil Rectangular Desk, which resembles a section of a plane wing, is an investment piece; reflected in its sky-high price, £3,125. All from Barker & Stonehouse.

Tiger is a winning formula

By John Griffiths

Triumph is not only the maker's name but a word which could well describe the company's all-new Tiger Explorer.

The 'Tiger' is really like a family name more than any indicator that this is a hastily redesigned version of the familiar 1,050cc three-cylinder machine to widen sales opportunities in the expanding adventure market.

In fact it's powered by a brand new 1,215cc unit (three cylinders, of course) which sets the Triumph apart from most rivals in this class simply in terms of power and torque. With 135bhp on tap, the Explorer is knocking on the door of superbike territory.

Powerful

That makes it almost a third more powerful than the biggest seller in this category and the bike which set the benchmark, the BMW GS, whose sales soared after Ewan McGregor and Charlie Boorman rode a pair of them around the world.

The new Explorer is unashamedly designed to steal sales from the German machine, so it's no surprise that Triumph has also produced a high specification which includes heated grips, ABS, adjustable traction control, cruise control and 'fly by wire' throttle as standard.

The new 1,215cc engine, fitted with balancer shafts for smoother running, is something of a gem. Running at a low 3,000rpm in top (sixth) gear, it can be a lazy man's machine, with just a small movement on the throttle required to unleash the torque needed for a quick overtake.

Drop a gear and use the revs, and it surges forward like a sports machine. The bike has a sort of Jekyll and Hyde character which will satisfy most types of roads, the rider whatever mood you happen to be in, and whatever the circumstances.

The engine is capable of unleashing a wave of torque which starts at an incredibly low 2,500 revs and continues right up the range. You could ride it quite satisfactorily as a 'top gear' bike but you'd be missing out on the gorgeous growl from the Arrow exhaust at higher revs.

The six-speed gearbox is one of the smoothest, notch-free units I've found on a two wheeler.

At first I thought top could have been a bit higher, to aid economy (about 48mpg for me). But in fact at 70mph the rev counter shows just a little over 3,000rpm – it's just that there's so much torque on tap you're deceived into thinking the ratio is lower.

The Explorer, like its rivals, is a tall bike. The standard seat is adjustable, but because of my short legs (so my tailor tells me) Stratstone Triumph of Wolverhampton, who loaned their test machine, supplied the 20mm lower option.

Yet in spite of its obvious height and weight, the Explorer is perfectly balanced so that it doesn't become tiring to ride for long periods over twisty roads, such as the by-roads of Wales.

In fact it took a mile or two for my subconscious to adjust to the fact that once in motion it is actually very light and agile: not what I expected at all. It feels altogether like a smaller bike, for example Suzuki's 600 V-Strom, and inspires a lot of confidence. It's great fun, too.

The traction control system (with two settings) didn't intervene during my miles with the Triumph, but I can see the potential advantage in avoiding spinning up the back wheel on wet roads. Riders of 100bhp-plus bikes will be aware of just how easily that happens: and it's likely to be even more welcome for riders who do venture off-road.

Triumph was able to use traction control and cruise control because of the new throttle system: there's no traditional cable, it's all done by electronics. It doesn't feel much different – just a bit lighter – but it does make throttle response very smooth and consistent.

The riding position is upright, keeping your back straight, which I find so much more comfortable after a few hours in the saddle – the type of ride this machine is designed for. The bars are straight and wide, ideal for fine control and stability.

The screen is easily adjustable through a range of angles. For me the midway position offered plenty of protection from wide blast without causing any buffeting or extra noise around my helmet.

The cruise control and comprehensive trip meter (including a 'miles to empty' feature) are operated by buttons next to the

'The new 1,215cc engine, fitted with balancer shafts for smoother running, is something of a gem' grips where they can be easily operated with a thumb. The indicators are self-cancelling, a system which in this case actually works, but if you don't like that you can easily change back to the old manual system.

It's another example of the amount of thought Triumph has put into developing a new machine to take on BMW at its own game.

There are other pointers, too, such as the larger capacity battery and alternator in anticipation of riders not only taking up the option of heated seats but also heated clothing. There's a quick headlamp adjustment, too, for when you have a passenger.

Stratstone Triumph say that the Explorer is already winning over customers and I'm not surprised.

The Hinckley-based manufacturer has undoubtedly taken a look at what's best in the adventure market and what riders want, and put a great deal of time and thought into doing something to beat that.

The Triumph costs £11,149 on the road.

Altea leading the way in space race with height

By John Griffiths

It doesn't look like a candidate for the first Mars mission, but SEAT's often overlooked Altea is something of a leader in the space race.

Call it a family hatchback or compact MPV, the Altea is particularly roomy for a car in this class even though it doesn't take up as much room on the road as some of its competitors.

The high cabin roof helps with the feeling of space, of course, and is particularly welcome for tall drivers and passengers, but even in the back they won't find a shortage of leg room either.

Altogether it's a neat piece of packaging, with a useful 409 litres of boot space even with five passengers on board.

It's also smooth, refined and with more than 62mpg possible from the 1.6 litre turbo diesel powering the 'Ecomotive' test car, it's economical, too.

SEAT is considered the sportier arm of the Audi VW Group and that's certainly true of some of its cars, particularly the latest versions of its award-winning Leon.

And while the Altea doesn't come under this heading, it benefits from some of the same technologies such as SEAT's 'agile chassis' and electronic aids in what is a real smoothie for the family market.

The test car's engine turns out 105bhp, and while the 0 to 62mph time is a modest 12.2 seconds (the gearing is taller for best economy) it feels brisk enough, and remains quiet and unflustered even at motorway speeds.

With 250Nm of torque from as low as 1,500rpm, the Altea pulls well from low speeds and the taller gearing means higher speed cruising is even quieter.

It's an easy car to live with: its extra height making it easier to slip in and out of, that extra few centimetres offering a slightly more commanding view, and the controls are light and easy to operate, while remaining sportily positive.

Relaxing

The height doesn't have the usual downside for handling, as the car is almost surprisingly agile.

It's the sort of car many would choose for making that long journey that little more relaxing, for the driver and the passengers.

Space apart, the Altea is well-suited to the role of family runabout with an array of storage compartments (and yes, cupholders) in the front and rear, so there's plenty of room for younger members of the family to carry the games and other boredom busters essential on long trips.

Oh, and there are 12-volt power sockets front and rear to keep the latest electronic gadgets running, too.

Electric windows, air conditioning and a six-speaker stereo/CD player are also standard features across the Altea range.

Safety is a major consideration for buyers and the Altea has front, side and curtain airbags, active front head restraints and the latest in electronic wizardry including traction and stability control systems, anti-lock brakes and hill hold control.

The test car also came with alloy wheels, cruise control, and upgraded infotainment package with steering wheel mounted remote controls and a comprehensive trip computer in the centre of the driver's instruments.

The high specification I-Tech is the latest addition to the Altea range and comes with three engine options, including the Ecomotive's 105Ps unit.

It lives up to its name with some of the latest technology. Its centre console and controls are built around the colour touch screen which also operates audio, Bluetooth and the SatNav system.

It also has climate control, parking sensors front and rear, fog lights, rain sensing wipers and automatic headlights.

The model is also available with the same 1.6 engine mated to the excellent DSG dual clutch automatic transmission, or with a 140Ps, 2.0 litre diesel under the bonnet.

New Scout joins the range

Fully prepared and always ready for an adventure – the latest model to join the Octavia range is a true Scout in every sense.

Building on the strengths of its acclaimed predecessors, the second-generation Skoda Octavia Scout is a unique all-rounder that combines off-road ability with exemplary on-road refinement and the brand's famous practicality.

Priced from £25,315, the new Octavia Scout features an advanced, fifth-generation Haldex clutch transmission, along with sector-best levels of interior space and a host of safety and comfort systems. Yet despite a significant increase in size and specification, the new Octavia is 20 percent cleaner and more fuel-efficient than the previous model, delivering significant running-cost savings for owners.

Two engines and transmissions are available from launch: a 2.0 TDI 150PS with a six-speed manual gearbox and a 2.0 TDI 184PS featuring a six-speed DSG as standard. The former returns 55.4mpg on the combined cycle and has CO2 emissions of 129g/km, while the range-topping model returns 55.4mpg and has CO2 emissions of 134g/km.

In addition to its off-road ability, the new Octavia Scout offers all the acclaimed safety and comfort features of the standard model. All models are available with up to nine airbags and Crew Protection Assistant for vehicle safety in crash situations and Driver fatigue sensor.

A number of electronic comfort systems are available as options. These include: Intelligent Light Assistant and Park Assist. The Scout can also be supplied with a new rear-view parking camera.

Based on the Octavia Estate, the Scout has been an integral part of the Octavia range since its introduction in 2007. Between 2007 and the end of 2013, SKODA delivered around 53,600 Octavia Scouts to customers worldwide. This represents almost eight percent of all Octavia Estates delivered during this period.

My name is Chinu, says man of bronze

THERE may be mystery over his surname but the only thing which matters right now to Wolverhampton wrestler Chinu is his Commonwealth bronze medal.

The 27-year-old Oldbury resident says he is "buzzing" after defeating New Zealand's Marcus Carney to claim the prize in the 125kg category in Glasgow.

In doing so, he created something of a stir on social media after his surname was listed as XXX during the competition, the result – it was claimed during television commentary – of an administrative error by the British Passport Office when he moved to the UK from his native India a decade ago.

The fighter himself, who is listed with the surname Singh on the website of Wolverhampton Wrestling Club, claims this story is not strictly true.

"I have no surname," he said. "I am simply called Chinu."

"The only thing is that sometimes when I enter competitions they list my name as XXX – that is what happened."

Ultimately all that matters to the ex-Sandwell College student is the medal.

Late score for Tipton gains point

NEW-LOOK Tipton Town opened their Midland League Premier Division campaign with a 2-2 draw at Loughborough University.

Tipton took the lead when Danny Carey-Bertram kept his cool to finish after being played in by Matt Ellis.

Loughborough pulled back right on half-time when James Smith upended Jason Davis and Kamran Frost levelled from the spot. Hesitancy in the Tipton penalty area in the 56th minute proved their undoing, Daniel Brennan putting the home side in front from close range.

Three minutes from time Josh March drove home after a free-kick was only partly cleared to earn the visitors a point.

Rugby club welcoming special guest

DUDLEY Kingswinford Rugby Club will be playing host to a special guest next month.

On September 19 DK will welcome England rugby head coach Stuart Lancaster who will host an evening dedicated to the sport, together with other special guests which are yet to be announced.

Coach Lancaster will speak of England rugby as the squad leads up to their Autumn internationals and the next rugby world cup which will be held in England in 2015.

Lancaster is a personal friend of Carl Douglas, DK's new director of rugby and it is hoped that Mr Lancaster will spend the afternoon at the club prior to the dinner and work with the junior sections as well as meet members of the club and sponsors as part of the build up to DK's new season.

Tickets to the event, which starts at 7:30 pm and includes a three course meal, will soon be available from the club for £60 each or tables of 10 at £550. Gold, silver and bronze tables will also be available whereby diners will be joined by either Mr Lancaster or one of the other special guests. For further information, please contact Roger Shakespeare by email dkrfclancaster@gmail.com or telephone 07779923687.

Carl Douglastook on the new role of director of rugby starting in May following the club's decision to fill a need to oversee the provision of high quality coaching, team performance, and to set strategy and the long term development of its players.

Douglas is an RFU Level 5 qualified coach, who has many years of experience as a head rugby coach and player development manager for premier league rugby teams.

Last season was an extremely testing time for DK.

With a strong track record of developing young players to fulfil their true potential, Douglas' remit will be to recruit new, as well as develop current players, building the club's long-term potential with a view to coming back into level 4 at the earliest opportunity.

Ed Parry, DK's First team captain said, "After what has been a long and tough season this year, the players are excited to welcome Carl to lead us towards success in the team's next chapter."

Hot Summers' night that was knockout

TIPTON'S Ricky Summers saved his best knockout for his big break on TV as opponent Curtis Gargano was counted out in front of the BoxNation cameras.

The two engaged in a slugfest before the finish came, four rounds into a scheduled six, at Wolverhampton Civic Hall last night, writes Craig Birch.

Summers, the only Black Country boy on the bill, was at Dudley's The Venue on September 19 to compete in front of a national audience.

He refused to get drawn into a brawl with Gargano, who replaced Mitch Mitchell for the light-heavyweight contest, and took him out with just 20 seconds of the fourth session left.

Summers said: "I will enjoy this and then turn my focus towards the next fight night in Dudley."

"Hopefully, all of my supporters can follow me on that journey as well."

A cagey first round saw Summers stay patient behind the jab, as Gargano got on his toes and made himself a moving target.

The Mancunian tried to wind Summers up by exploring him to 'come on' at the end of the second round, after tasting a right uppercut flush to the jaw.

Summers' head was rocked back as one shot from a Gargano flurry slipped through, but good combination punching reminded him who was boss during this battle.

With the bit between his teeth, Summers bided his time waiting for the opportune moment to come when he could crumple up Gargano with a loaded right hook to the ribs, forcing him to take a knee.

He made some attempts to rise to his feet but had no real interest in continuing, failing to beat referee Terry O'Connor's call to 10.

Summers said: "He just stopped behind his guard and kept it nice and tight, he just survived."

"People like that stop you performing at your best."

"I am a counter-puncher, I show my power when people come on to me," said Summers.

"When I am chasing people around the ring, it's harder to get your shots off. He caught me in the second round but it wasn't much of a shot, I've had harder spars."

"I kept on picking my shots until I could finish him off."

"I waited to throw that right hook. It's no good trying for the same shot during the fight, it came as a surprise and it did the job," added the winner.

"I am glad he got up and the referee stopped it, I would have hurt the lad if he had carried on."

Teenage golfer is record-breaker

Golfer Richard Shaw, from Wombourne, who has broken the course record at Enville Golf Course, Highgate Common

A YOUNG barman has broken a golf course record – despite only taking up the game four years ago.

Richard Shaw took 66 shots to make his way around the Lodge course at Enville Golf Club during a round. The previous record was 67.

The 18-year-old, who plays off a handicap of zero, hopes the achievement will be a step towards becoming a professional. Richard, who works at the golf club bar, started playing golf while at Ellowes Hall Sports College in Dudley, first at Sedgley Golf Club and then moving to Enville.

Richard, who lives with his parents in Wombourne Park, said: "My mates were playing and I decided to come along one day and hit some balls, I haven't looked back since. It's taken a lot of hard work and patience but my game feels like its continuing to improve."

Breaking the course record is even more remarkable for Richard as the 11th hole has been extended. The previous record had been held by Chris Elston for around eight years.

Richard, who plays golf every day, came second in the Staffordshire Boys Golf Tournament in Penn last year and has won a competition at Copt Heath Golf Club in Solihull.

The breaking of the course record at Enville Golf Club will be recognised with a plaque at the clubhouse.

Yeltz duo will face tough test in league

HALESOWEN TOWN chairman Colin Brookes believes striking duo Iyseden Christie and Ben Haseley will face tougher tests in the Evo-Stik Northern Premier League this season.

Between them Christie and Haseley bagged 59 goals as Halesowen clinched the Evo-Stik Division One South title last year.

The club have won one, drawn two and lost two in pre-season ahead of the visit of Hednesford Town tonight in their final pre-season fixture. It's a 7.45pm kick-off.

Brookes insists the club is excited to begin their new campaign at Skelmersdale United on August 16.

He said: "Iyseden and Ben got almost 60 goals between them. They're both staying with us for this campaign. They'll both come up against more experienced defenders, who have played Football League and Conference football. We don't have anyone else who has played in a higher league than what we've been promoted to other than Leon McKenzie and Iyseden. For everyone else it will be like two promotions."

Midfielder Danny Bragoli has joined Halesowen from Chasetown.

Shan gets promoted to U-21s

ALBION have promoted James Shan to the position of Under-21 Senior Professional Development Phase Coach.

He steps up from his previous role as Under-18 Lead Development Phase Coach to take over the reins from David Oldfield, who left for MK Dons last month.

The 35-year-old has progressed through the club's ranks since moving to The Hawthorns as performance coach/under-11s coach in 2006. And he has helped develop players such as Saido Berahino, Liam O'Neil, George Thorne, Chris Wood and Isaiah Brown. Technical director Terry Brookes said: "James was the obvious choice to fill the role. He knows the players well."

Score by Dukes rescues the Tivs

Tividale 1
Halesowen Town 1
A goal in the 89th minute from Matt Jukes rescued a draw for Tividale, who played several trialists against a team who will line up one league above them this season.

Tividale were playing their second game in a week after a 7-1 romp at Bromsgrove Sporting and the visitors were also in good pre-season form, having beaten Stourport 6-0 in their last game.

The game started brightly, both teams looking lively but it was Halesowen who took the lead on 18 minutes when Tividale goalkeeper Charlie Price failed to deal with a routine free kick and Iyseden Christie tapped the ball home.

Price was replaced in goal by Tom Turner for the second half.

But neither could find the breakthrough until Juke's last minute header at the far post.

A worry for Halesowen was midfielder Aaron Forde going off with a hamstring injury.

Halesowen: Sargeant, Green, Griffiths, Forde, Hull, Tilt, Bragoli, Turner, Christie, Thompson Brown, Till

Subs: Lait, Pearson, MacKenzie, Tonks, Haseley, Kettle, Bowen.

Ellie grabs gold gong

WALSALL'S Ellie Simmonds, Steph Slater and Susie Rodgers won gold for Great Britain on the first day of the IPC Swimming European Championships in Eindhoven.

Paralympic and world champion Simmonds took the 400m freestyle S6 title in five minutes 28.31 seconds, Rodgers won the 400m freestyle S7 and Slater took the women's S8 100m backstroke.

Simmonds, 19, was "really happy" to win gold, but said: "It was a rubbish swim. I'm not happy with the time."

Rodgers said: "It was one of those ones where you don't know what is going to happen."

"I had a race plan and I'm pleased with how it went. It was a good time. We are going in the right direction."

The championships run until Sunday, 10 August.

Heathens challenged to beat bitter rivals

BOSS Will Pottinger has challenged his riders to make up for the absence of star man Steve Worrall when Cradley face bitter rivals Mildenhall at Monmore next Tuesday (7.30).

Worrall, who swept to glory in last week's Golden Hammer, is riding for Premier League Edinburgh in a fixture arranged for Sky at Berwick, writes Nigel Pearson.

Heathens have no choice but to utilise the rider replacement facility – as they did in the win at Stoke on Sunday.

The rivalry between Cradley and the Fen Tigers was intensified when they clashed two years ago when the Black Country side were controversially denied the National League title by a refereeing decision which the Heathens are keen to avenge.

Now the Heathens are looking to build on their stunning run of results – which includes hopefully dumping the Fen Tigers out of the Knockout Cup – when the sides clash on Tuesday.

Boss Pottinger, said: "It's a testament to the team we've put together the fact that we can keep on winning even when we are missing our better riders sometimes.

"We've got a tough home meeting coming up against Mildenhall which should be a good test for us.

"We had a difficult meeting against Coventry last home meeting which we came through well, so hopefully we can do the same against Mildenhall," added Pottinger.

"It looks like we'll be without Steve Worrall which is a blow, but we've proved we can win even when people are missing.

"We just need the remaining six riders to step up, so fingers crossed they can do that and we can get another win."

Heathens have a team in action at the Retro Fours at Wolverhampton this coming Monday, August 11.

The Heathens will be represented by American ace Gino Manzares, who made a good showing for his country in the recent World Cup campaign, Stuart Robson, Aaron Summers and former favourite Kyle Newman who was a rider for the club in 2011.

Admission is £10 for all adults for the clash with Wolves, Birmingham and Oxford.

Offer for Dawson rejected

ALBION have rejected a third bid from Burnley for defender Craig Dawson.

It's understood the newly-promoted Claret's latest offer is in excess of £1.5m for the 24-year-old.

Other, higher-ranked clubs are now showing an interest in the former England Under-21 international and are prepared to pay more than Burnley.

But while Dawson appears to be edging closer to The Hawthorns exit door, another stopper made his debut for the club.

Lescott is fit again after a calf injury sidelined him from the behind-closed-doors 2-0 win over Bury on July 12, while captain Chris Brunt is available following a hernia operation.

Victor Anichebe has been struggling with illness but is hopeful of playing a part against Forest.

But there is no eagerly-awaited debut at the City Ground for £10m new signing Brown Ideye as he is still in Nigeria awaiting his work permit.

Stephane Sessegnon will also miss out again due to his involvement with Benin in their African Nations Cup qualifier with Malawi.

Tongo to stay for time being

TONGO DOUMBIA seems set to stay at Wolves for the time being.

Reports from France claimed the midfielder had agreed personal terms on a move to Lens.

But the former Rennes player appeared for Wolves in the Under-21s friendly at Hednesford where they were beaten 1-0.

FRIENDLY TURNS INTO FIERY MATCH

Wolves 1 Celta Vigo 1

NEVER mind a pre-season friendly, this was more like Saturday night at kicking out time.

With Nouha Dicko head-butted, several players left sprawled out on the turf by some crude challenges and Kenny Jackett confronted en masse by an angry Spanish bench, it was hardly the gentle stroll of some warm-up games this summer.

But days before the action starts for real against Norwich, it was probably the competitive workout Wolves needed, although they will hope the Canaries don't carry the same cynical edge as Celta Vigo.

Wolves' final warm-up test was a major step up in class from their other friendly opponents.

Fortified

And they go into their curtain-raiser against Norwich fortified by the way they withstood pressure and chances from talented opposition who moved the ball with typical ease on the lush Molineux acres.

It was also encouraging to see Rajiv Van La Parra have his best game so far.

His flashes of pace, strength and skill have him marked down as a crowd pleaser and it will be interesting to see how Jackett uses him.

It was Bath who had the first chance when his powerful header bounced wide from Jacob's corner.

Vigo enjoyed plenty of possession and the visitors had the next sight of goal when Alex Lopez's drive was deflected wide.

Football

But Wolves showed a ruthless edge which will come in handy in the coming months to take a 32nd-minute lead.

Van La Parra was alert to dispossess Samu before drawing keeper Sergio and squaring for Dicko to roll the ball into an empty net.

Within a minute things became even livelier as Dicko and Gustavo Cabral squared up to each other, going head-to-head.

Cabral was seen to thrust his head forward into Dicko and it surely would have resulted in a red card in a league game.

But the referee chose to book both players instead, much to the annoyance of a furious Wolves bench.

Five half-time substitutions for the Spaniards ensured a lively second 45 minutes and there were chances at both ends as the game opened up.

Joaquin Larrivee equalised on 65 minutes.

Nolito put the striker through and a low effort which beat Ikeme before creeping into the corner.

Summers puts on a knockout performance

Ricky Summers who won his battle with Curtis Gargano by a knockout at Wolverhampton's Civic Hall

TIPTON boxer Ricky Summers, 24, the light-heavyweight, fight- passed his screen test with flying colours. The light-heavyweight, fight- ing live on BoxNation, knocked out Mancunian Curtis Gargano in Wolverhampton. ● Hot – Page 43
